EUROPE GETS WRONG IDEA OF MELLON VISIT

Interpret Secretary's Trip Abroad to Mean Revision of Debt Terms
NOT ON U. S. BUSINESS
Coolidge Makes Public Statement to Rectify General European Impression

Washington—If Secretary Mellon had it to do over again, he would not go to Europe this summer. The European statesmen and publicists have completely misconstrued the visit. It has made abroad so much so that President Coolidge has taken occasion to corroborate the informal statements from the secretary of the treasury that he is not traveling on government business.

Only the remarkable ties of affection which bind the secretary to his only daughter brought about the journey. Mr. Mellon had planned it long before the crisis in finance over fiscal affairs had grown acute. Neither he nor the president thought any special significance would be attached to the trip. But the state of mind of Europe is different today from a year ago. Everything that can be done to create the impression that efforts are in the making to revise debt terms is being constantly paraded before the eyes of the debt oppressed peoples as a ray of hope.

HAS ALL NECESSARY DATA
But Mr. Mellon is powerless to make a change. Everything that could possibly be poured into his ears about Europe's troubles has been poured therein for six successive years by ambassadors, special commissioners, business men and bankers. Every argument for cancellation from sentimental considerations to cries of economic distress has been duly considered by Mr. Mellon in the past. If he were to make an economic survey of several months he might get facts at first-hand, but here, too, American diplomatic agents and business men have not failed to check up on the statements of Europeans. Indeed, the Italian delegation which came here to settle the war debt conceded publicly their astonishment at the accuracy of American data concerning Italy's capacity to pay.

Mr. Mellon is of course chairman of the world war debt funding commission. As such, however, his powers are limited. In fact, Mr. Coolidge has pointedly let it be known that Mr. Mellon's powers are in the hands of the president. It is inevitable, however, that the secretary of the treasury should add to the sum total of his information on European affairs during his visit. He cannot help it. And while the debts are a closed issue so far as Mr. Mellon is concerned, this does not mean that his ears are deaf to what is going on around him. He will bring back certain ideas of the recent outbursts of hostilities against Americans and certain thoughts on the fundamental difficulties of economic reconstruction in Europe. But here, too, Mr. Mellon is not going to find much that is new, much that is different from the reports of dozens of trained observers whose memoranda he has been receiving for several years. Mr. Mellon's theory is that debt settlements are an essential step in the building of a credit structure and that the amount of money to be received by the United States in the next few years is negligible compared to the beneficial effects on European countries themselves in their formal fulfillment of a sacred international obligation.

NOT ON U. S. BUSINESS
It is significant that the president had made a special effort to erase impressions that Mr. Mellon went abroad on official business. He wanted to ease Mr. Mellon's embarrassment. It is inevitable, however, that the secretary of the treasury should add to the sum total of his information on European affairs during his visit. He cannot help it. And while the debts are a closed issue so far as Mr. Mellon is concerned, this does not mean that his ears are deaf to what is going on around him. He will bring back certain ideas of the recent outbursts of hostilities against Americans and certain thoughts on the fundamental difficulties of economic reconstruction in Europe. But here, too, Mr. Mellon is not going to find much that is new, much that is different from the reports of dozens of trained observers whose memoranda he has been receiving for several years. Mr. Mellon's theory is that debt settlements are an essential step in the building of a credit structure and that the amount of money to be received by the United States in the next few years is negligible compared to the beneficial effects on European countries themselves in their formal fulfillment of a sacred international obligation.

PROPHESY RELIEF FROM HEAT WAVE WHICH KILLS 20

Kansas City, O.—(AP)—Scattered thundershowers and possibly cooling breezes were forecast Friday as relief from the heat wave which Thursday settled over the west and southwest, sending temperatures well above the century mark in several states.
Nearly a score of deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to heat while humidity which approached the saturation points in many sections drove farmers from fields and caused damage to crops. The highest temperature reported was at Salina, Kansas, where the mercury touched 109 degrees.

BUSINESS IN MEXICO HURT BY BOYCOTT

Foreign Trade Observers Regard Religious Situation as Serious

Mexico City—(AP)—The economic boycott is making itself felt in the capitol. While the surface calm continues in the situation engendered by the tremendous conflict between the government and the Catholic church in Mexico, the protest of the latter through the nerves of trade is making itself increasingly potent.

A decided decrease in trade is noted by many stores and shops particularly by those catering to women. Some of these estimate the reduction in retail sales at as much as 40 per cent of normal.

Foreign business men and foreign trade observers, regard the situation as serious.
While there have been disturbances at various places throughout the country, for the most part the people are going about their customary duties, calmly awaiting developments, and the boycott remains the only active opposition to the administration's policy.

WOMEN QUIT BUYING
Women are the foremost factor in the boycott. Some women, accustomed to riding in first class street cars at present are riding in second class cars or walking.

Vendors of lottery tickets who are as numerous as newsboys in the streets of Mexico City report that even the gambling spirit of the people is subdued.

The moving picture theatres are drawing much smaller crowds.
Thus far the Mexican government has made no statement with regard to the action of the Knights of Columbus convention in Philadelphia sending a petition to President Coolidge requesting him to raise the embargo on the shipment of arms to Mexico. There was much interest shown in the news by members of the Mexican episcopate, but no statement was forthcoming.

Democrat Candidate For Governor Outlines Issues
Baraboo—(AP)—Virgil H. Cady, Democrat candidate for governor Friday made public a statement which he considers contains the issues in the present political campaign.

"To win in Wisconsin" Mr. Cady said, "the Democratic party must stand for something. Let us apply to the present conditions the cardinal principles of the Democratic faith, which are 'Equality of all men and all women of whatever birth or creed, before just laws of their own enactment.'
"Equal rights and equal opportunity, without class distinction and freedom of individual thought and action consistent with the equal rights of others."
"Total separation of church and state for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom."
"Taxation fairly and equitably imposed, restricted to the actual requirements of government economically administered."
"Rigid economy in the expenditure of public money that labor may be lightly burdened and that agriculture and other forms of industry may not be oppressed."
"Strict accountability of all public servants to the people."
"Retrenchment and reform in the public service, and a state government freed of useless duplication, sinecures, graft, shams and pretenses."

ILLINOIS PRIMARY PROBE ENDS

Church Meet Plans To Vitalize Religion With Drama, Music And Pageants

OPEN THREE DAY LAKE PAGEANT IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Dressed in her gayest colors Milwaukee Friday opened the Court of Neptune, a three day pageant on the water front of Lake Michigan.

At 9 A. M. the first event of the program a kite flying contest started on the lake front at Juneau park with countless kids tugging at strings attached to all manner of kites which clouded the sky. For an hour this continued and then out over the break water appeared a low smoke screen, announcing the approach of the Great Lakes fleet, which steamed into the harbor at precisely 11 A. M. and announced their arrival with whistles.

Dedication services of the various points of interest occupied the earlier part of the forenoon, until 2:30 P. M. when a rodeo and dance was staged by a group of Chippewa Indians. Friday night is Venetian night.

Geneva Conference Decides to Checkmate Jazz, Autos and Charleston

Lake Geneva—(AP)—Bringing the fine arts, particularly music and pageantry, more vividly into the field of religion in order to intensify religious worship and to attract the eyes of youth toward church enterprise is the theme of a conference here of church leaders from 25 states.

The three day meeting under the auspices of the international school of religious education planned to discuss methods "to checkmate the subtle movements of jazz which seems to be invading the sanctuary and to clean up on church drama and pageantry so that it is no longer out at the knees, with disheveled hair and worn down heels.

Preachers, choir masters, organists, dramatic directors and other church workers were in attendance with the program under the direction of Prof. H. Augustine Smith of Boston university of specialists in the field of fine arts in religion.

Seeking to build up "master programs in the fine arts," for religious services, church music is to receive unusual attention, the discussion ranging from the conducting of a pedagogical rehearsal with a volunteer choir to dramatizing extensive choral works. High church worship will be advocated to the point of "monotony of simplicity through chants, hymns and responses."

Five fine arts in religious life were listed as congregational singing, special music, worship and rituals and orders of service, drama and pageantry and the use of pictures of visual art. Their use would be disturbed in this manner: "Drama and music at Christmas processions, tableaux and pantomime at Easter, ritual commemoration of Armistice day prints and posed or living pictures for Washington's birthday or Patriot's day, a congregational songfest and candle lighting service for Candlemas.

Purposes for the use of fine arts were named as follows: To furnish flaming youth a man's and woman's size job, and so attractive and fascinating as to vie with Charleston contests, Hollywood and automobile adventures.

"To direct the emotional life of high school and college youth, now running wild because academic hands are indifferent to anything but intellectual furnishings.

"To build a city of God on earth, here and now, with the church and church school a radiant community center of genuine religion, flowing full and free—not a gym first, an oyster supper a bazaar, and old folks' social, but a spiritual shrine for hungry souls.

"To strengthen, vitalize and popularize the Sunday night service to commemorate adequately the festival days of the church year to aid church schools in throwing an atmosphere around the classroom, and to bring good will and peace among religious of many faiths."

Lieutenant J. R. E. Wolf of Chicago, Wilson's passenger was seriously injured.

Both Partridge and Wolf were reserve officers.

BOOTLEG QUEEN

Mrs. Florence Frisbee, 24, is the latest to be known as "queen of the bootleggers," because she and her husband, Carl, ran a very ritzy liquor and dope smuggling venture on the west coast, making profits of well over $1,000,000. After eluding federal agents for three years in a chase that extended across the United States, thence to Europe and back they were caught in Chicago. They are being returned to Seattle for trial.

MORE MYSTERY IN HALL-MILLS CASE

Phone Calls and Alleged Missing Trunk Added to Vanishing Witnesses

Bound Brook, N. J.—(AP)—Mysterious telephone calls and an alleged missing trunk have been added to vanishing witnesses as headline factors in the reopened investigation of the murder four years ago of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Police Friday discounted as a hoax a report to them at midnight that a trunkful of documentary evidence had been stolen from the home of Mrs. John Merrill, where Asahel Beekman, who conducted the first investigation lived before his death.

Attention of a score of newspaper men had already been concentrated on Bound Brook earlier in the day by a report purporting to come from the Jersey city office of assistant Attorney General Simpson that "something big would break in Bound Brook at midnight." Some what similar "tips" have been a daily occurrence this week.

PROBERS MAY SIFT COST OF OTHER RACES

Probably Will Be Some Time Before Reed Will Call Committee Again

Chicago—(AP)—Having turned up during two months investigation expenditures of $3,000,000, in Pennsylvania's May primary and $1,000,000 in Illinois April primary the senate campaign funds committee stood in adjournment Friday subject to call of its chairman, Senator Reed, Decorat, Missouri.

Inquiries into other primaries are not now in prospect and Senator Reed announced it probably would be some time before the committee would be called together again. The call will go out, however, on receipt of any serious charges of irregularities in elections involving seats in the senate. The chairman has returned to his home at Kansas City to look after his law practice while Senator La Follette, Republican Wisconsin, the only other member to sit in the Illinois investigation here again has thrown himself into the senatorial fight in his home state.

Sensational disclosures which have come in the two inquiries here and in Washington, are certain to have their echoes in the senate during the next session even if contests are not brought involving the senate seats to which William S. Vare, Republican has been nominated in Pennsylvania and Frank L. Smith, Republican nominated in Illinois.

TURNESA FIVE UNDER PAR IN GOLF TOURNEY

Montreal—(AP)—Shooting a sensational 68, five under par, Joe Turnesa, young Fairview, N. Y., professional, Friday provided an early sensation for the second 18-hole round of the Canadian Open Golf championship. This gave Turnesa a 36 hole score of 143 for the two days.

Turnesa, who was runner up to Bobby Jones in the United States Open championship this year clipped a stroke off the mark set Thursday by two other Americans, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, who jointly set the pace for the first 18 holes of the tournament.

Charlie Murray, Royal Montreal professional, who accompanied Turnesa, was three under par with a 70. This gave him an aggregate of 145.

It was also the first setback to the national champion since she returned to competition a fortnight ago after being kept out of the game for two months as the result of an operation for appendicitis in France.

Allis 7 Up On Peterson In State Golf Tourney

Milwaukee—(AP)—Ned Allis, Milwaukee-club star and seven-times state champion, appeared to have the 1926 championship tucked away when he came in at the end of the morning round of the thirty-six hole final in the Wisconsin Amateur Golf association tournament at Ozaukee Country club Friday. He was seven up on Irving Peterson of Racine.

Allis played perfect golf, having a medal score of 71, one over par against Peterson's 80.

CAL SEES OLD NEIGHBORS AT FARM HOME

President and Mrs. Coolidge Visit Familiar Scenes at Plymouth

Plymouth, Vt.—(AP)—On the home farm again for a few days President Coolidge is spending his time renewing old ties and visiting familiar scenes. Government business has been thrust into the back ground. Friends and neighbors although proudly remembering his high position say they find him unchanged.

J. L. Moore grew up with Mr. Coolidge and roomed with the future president for a year at the Black River academy in Ludlow in the eighties. He has always made his home here, where he owns a farm. In 1924 he founded "The Home Town Coolidge club" and led it on a campaign trip by automobile across the country.

Most of those who were boys here with Calvin Coolidge have long since moved away, but a few remain.

Mr. Moore spoke for them today when he said "Cal hasn't changed a bit."

Unable to resist longer the call of his favorite sport, President Coolidge went fishing Friday. He tried his luck in Piney Hollow brook, about a quarter of a mile from the Coolidge farm house. Meanwhile Mrs. Coolidge took a pall and went blueberrying.

ROW FOLLOWS LIQUOR RAID IN FLORIDA

Men Open Fire on Prohibition Agents Who Destroyed Three Stills

BOOTLEG IN SWAMPS

Florida Everglades Are Stronghold of Rum Runners and Outlaw Gangs

BULLETIN
Homestead, Fla.—(AP)—A court of inquiry was called to meet Friday to investigate the killing late Thursday of three men by six prohibition agents while making a series of liquor raids in the Everglades.

Homestead, Fla.—(AP)—Three men rode out of Florida's Everglades Thursday in pursuit of seven federal prohibition agents who were returning to Miami after a series of liquor raids and in the pitched battle that followed, all three lost their lives.

Long known as a holdout for rum runners, bootleggers and outlaw gangs the low lying plains of saw grass which make up the lower peninsula have presented an impenetrable barrier against interference by law. The last two years the illegal liquor traffic has gained a firm hold in the Everglades. "Hammocks" of small high and dry tracts within the swamps have proven ideal spots for secret stills.

FIRE ON OFFICERS

Thursday seven federal prohibition agents came up on three stills near the Cape Sable road which runs from Royal Palm park and south to the tip of the peninsula. The stills were destroyed and the officers started for Homestead and Miami in two automobiles, when a third automobile carrying three men, supposedly bootleggers, turned into the main road from one of the numerous uncharted trails leading into the swamps.

The men were afterwards identified as M. P. Merritt, Clyde Parrish and J. A. Brinson, all of Homestead, opened fire on the officers and in the resultant battle, all three were killed.

It was in this same section of the Everglades that the notorious Ashland gang which for years preyed on small banks along the lower east coast, made its retreat, and attracted to its ranks outlaws from all sections of the state. All attempts by officers to penetrate the swamps were fruitless, and only when surrounded on an open road was the gang exterminated.

STUDY RECORDS OF ALL CANDIDATES—LENROOT

Juneau—(AP)—Senator Irving L. Lenroot Friday urged the voters of Wisconsin to study carefully the records of the candidates for the United States senate, asserting that the man who gets votes under false pretenses is a greater criminal than the person who obtains money illegally.

"You can prosecute and put in jail the man who gets your money under false pretenses but the man who gets your vote under false pretenses goes scot free until another election," Senator Lenroot asserted.

"I ask no man or woman to vote for me. The man doesn't live who is big enough or wise enough to tell you how to vote. Your vote is your own and the highest obligation you have is to use it for the welfare of your country. We gave the people of Wisconsin the direct primary and abolished bossism and slates 20 years ago."

The obligation of the candidate is to give you the facts and let you make up your own mind. If I knowingly mistake a fact anywhere in the state of Wisconsin during this campaign I am not entitled to a single vote in the state of Wisconsin.

LIST OF BOGUS CHECKS ON IRON WORKS GROWING

19 Checks Totalling $1,001 Are Passed on Merchants at Green Bay

Two more worthless checks, drawn on the Citizens National bank of Appleton and signed by the forged name of Rudolph Pfund, secretary and treasurer of the Northern Boiler Structural Iron works of this city, were received Friday morning by Mr. Pfund from the Outagamie County bank of Appleton, accompanied by protest notices.

The checks were made payable to Jack Lund and Fred Weber and were written for $55.50 and $50, respectively. They were written on payroll checks on which the name of the Northern Structural Iron works was printed. The total amount of the 18 checks so far protested and sent to Mr. Pfund is $1,001. Seventeen checks for a total of $889.50, received by Mr. Pfund up to Thursday evening, were made payable to F. Vogel, F. Weber and F. Lapin. All checks were cashed in Green Bay by merchants and others.

The 19 checks sent to Mr. Pfund were protested by Appleton banks, other than the Citizens National bank. Exact figures as to the number of checks returned directly to the Citizens National bank, and the amounts called for, were not available Friday morning, according to H. W. Tuttrup, president of the bank. He indicated, however, that the amount of checks returned to the bank would probably be more than $500.

Immediate detection of the activities of the forgers at Appleton banks was assured by the fact that the Northern Boiler Structural Iron works does not carry a checking account at the Citizens National bank. Police have descriptions of two of the bad check artists and are making every effort to locate them. Up to Friday no arrests were made in the matter, according to Police Chief Prim.

The addition will house a heating plant, class and assembly rooms for religious educational purposes, a kitchen, lavatories and store rooms. The present church basement is to be converted into a large assembly room and dining hall. General church meetings will be held here.

Published in Glasgow, it is a complete testament, but cannot be read with the naked eye.

RAILROAD WILL AID IN PAVING

Northwestern Engineer Tells Board His Company Will Aid on Jackman-st Work

The Chicago and Northwestern railroad, through its representative, C. H. Perry of Antigo, a division engineer, Thursday signified its willingness to pay part of the expense of paving Jackman-st and a stretch from that street along the north side of the railroad right-of-way at the foot of the street. Mr. Perry was present at a meeting of the board of public works. Instead of allowing Jackman-st to cross the tracks and then intersect with an east and west street, a new street will be laid to the north of the tracks from Jackman-st cutting off quite a distance and allowing the flag station at the crossing to be removed. Mr. Perry said his company would help the city pay for part of the paving, but was unable to state how much aid the city would receive. He told the board to estimate the cost of the entire work and let him know the result. An attempt to get the St. Paul road to aid with the paving will be made, according to Mayor A. C. Rule. This road also has tracks along the proposed pavement.

"So's Your Old Man"
"UP IN MABLE'S ROOM"

"Mose" Is One Nickname Which This Man Favors

A nickname is a wondrous thing. George Theis of Appleton, is called "Mose" by his friends, and is now so used to the moniker that he sometimes think it is his right name. Maybe it should be, for Moses, the original, landed in the bulrushes, and "Mose" landed in the bull-pen. "Mose" was arrested Thursday evening by Appleton police, while he was trying to take a quiet nap on a lawn on N. Oneida-st. From there he went to the police station, via the patrol wagon.

"What's your name?" he was asked. "Theis," he replied. "Your other name?" "Mose."

So as Moses Theis he was entered on the ledger of the "Hotel de Prim" where he was given a "room" for the night. And as Moses Theis he appeared Friday morning in municipal court.

Mose was a bit dubious as to whether he could pay the fine of $10 and costs of $4.20 which Judge Theodore Borg imposed on him. In fact, it looked as if he would step from the flyings-pav, or the city jail, into the fire, the Outagamie-co fall. Later during the morning, however, the fine was forthcoming and Mose was released from durance vile.

That's really the second of two chapters for Mose. Several months ago his name was metamorphosed into "George Moses" by another mysterious process. Having imbibed too freely of forbidden waters with a congenial companion on the occasion, Mose found his way to the police station.

"What's your name?" came the usual question. "George," said Mose. "Mose," supplemented his companion.

So the name went on the police register as "George Moses," and it was a gentleman by that name who appeared in court. Yes, a nickname is a wondrous thing at times.

Either because it was "cirous day," or because of mere coincidence, two other men were arrested Thursday afternoon for being unable to navigate their pedal extremities with a proper degree of equilibrium.

O. P. Schneider, 835 S. Commercial-st., Neenah, got into trouble because he wanted to help the police. He was trying to assist Chief Prim direct the traffic at the 101 Ranch show about 2:30 Thursday afternoon. He had plenty of gravity, but was lacking somewhat in poise. Chief Prim thought that that matter should be left to the police force, and Schneider took a ride. Friday morning he pleaded guilty of being intoxicated, before Judge Berg of municipal court. He paid a fine of $10 and costs of $4.20.

Joseph Theisen of Appleton, knew where to go home, but not how. He leaned against a tree near the corner of N. Oneida and Commercial-sts for support, while he pondered the matter. Later he was taken to the police station. Theisen pleaded guilty to drunkenness Friday morning and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

Beasley's orchestra, which has been at the beach for the past two weeks, will close its engagement Friday evening.

FARMERS ARE INJURED WHEN HORSES RUN AWAY

Nick Reiter and son, Cyril, town of Harrison farmers, were injured while at work in the field at their farm on Sherwood-rd at about 3:30 Monday afternoon when a team of horses attached to a manure spreader became frightened and ran away. Cyril Reiter made an attempt to stop the team as it dashed through a fence and was badly cut about the face. Mr. Reiter had his knee crushed when he tried to stop the team as it started from the field. Both Mr. Reiter and his son are recovering and are able to be about, it was reported Friday.

Watch Your Breakfast

Start every day with food that "stands by" you

HOW you feel all morning depends largely on what you eat for breakfast. Thousands have un-energetic forebodings because of wrong breakfast eating.

To feel right, you must have well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen. Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. It should start every breakfast in your home. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

DELEGATES TO ATTEND REAL ESTATE MEETING

Several Appleton real estate companies are planning to send delegates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin association of Real Estate Brokers which is to be held at Racine, Aug. 19, 20 and 21. The directors recently went on record in favor of the repeal of the personal property tax on automobiles and of placing a 3 cent tax on gasoline. They claim many people are avoiding the personal property tax where-as the gasoline tax is comparatively easy to collect.

UNIVERSAL COMBINATION RANGE

Saves Labor, Fuel and Food

One of the biggest things about this beautiful Universal Combination Range, women say, is its porcelain finish which saves time and labor—no blackening or rubbing required. All that is needed to keep it bright and new looking is to occasionally wipe it off with a moist cloth.

Use a gas, coal or wood fire for baking or cooking all at the same time, if you wish. A simple "twist of the wrist" is all that is required to convert this Range from a coal or wood range into a gas range. No parts to change—nothing to forget or neglect. Compact—requires but 40 inches of floor space.

Many Styles to Select From

In addition to the full-porcelain range with elevated gas oven and broiler, we offer many others in semi-porcelain, nickel trim and plain finish with broiling compartment only or warming closet.

Come in and let us show you its countless features which will help to lighten and make your work in the kitchen a pleasure.

STREET NAMES OF NEW ORLEANS TELL HISTORY

Trace French, Spanish and American Influence in Naming of Thoroughfares

New Orleans—(P)—Names of New Orleans streets present a mixture of French, Spanish and American influences of other days and impress strangers instantly as one of the oddities of the interesting features of the old city.

The city itself was not named as many think for the French city of Orleans but for the Duke of Orleans. Chartres street bears the name of his son, the Duc de Chartres. Royal street is said to have been named for Madame Royale, eldest sister of the king.

MUSES REPRESENTED
Bourbon bears the dynastic name and the Dauphine is remembered through Dauphine street. The royal family did not lack attention as witness Conti, Toulouse, Dumaine and Conde.

A group of streets is named for the muses, Calliope, Clio, Erato, Thalia, Melpomene, Terpsichore, Euterpe, Polymnia and Urania.

The Napoleonic influence left Napoleon Avenue, Josephine street and a street for each of Napoleon's victories, Austerlitz, Jena, Cadiz, Constantine and Berlin. Berlin passed during the world war in favor of General Pershing street.

FEW INDIAN NAMES
Few of the Indian names are left although one busy thoroughfare is still Tchoupitoulas. Americans are represented by Washington, Franklin, Adams, Jefferson, Monroe, Madison, Gallatin, Henry Clay, Webster, Calhoun, General Taylor, Scott and Claiborne streets, Jackson Square and Jackson Avenue honor the hero of New Orleans.

Spanish governors also left their names on streets, Galvez, Miro, Calvo, Salcedo, Carondelet and his wife, Baronne.

Names inspired by religion include St. Peter, St. Claude, Annunciation, St. Andrew, St. Mary, St. Maurice, St. Joseph and St. Anne.

When plantations were made into city streets the names of children of old families were given, leaving today Octavia, Arabella, Joseph, Eleonore, Celeste, Robert, Adele and Amelia streets.

18 States Will Reveal How They Feel About U. S. Prohibition Law

The 18 states shaded black in this map will reveal their prohibition sentiment this fall, either by referendums or by political fights in which the wet and dry issue is clear cut.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington — Prohibition referendums, or what, virtually will amount to referendums, are promised on a state-wide scale in 18 states at next November's election.

They already are definitely assured in New York, Wisconsin, Colorado, Montana and Nevada.

In New York and Wisconsin they were provided for by legislative enactment. In Colorado, Montana and Nevada the petition method was used. In Missouri a referendum petition is being circulated now. In California there is a prospect that the legislature will follow the example of New York and Wisconsin.

In Ohio Alice Pomerooy, wet Democrat, is fighting Florence Allen, dry Democrat, and Frank E. Willis, dry Republican for the United States Senate, principally on the prohibition issue. The vote will be the equivalent of a referendum, though not explicitly under that name.

The same thing is true of Illinois, where George Brennan, wet Democrat will make his senatorial fight against Frank Smith, Republican, solely on the issue of modification of the Volstead law.

In Pennsylvania Representative William S. Vare is a candidate for the Senate on a platform which is wet and nothing else, though the scandal connected with his nomination may lose him a good many wet votes to William B. Wilson, dry Democrat, so that the issue in the Keystone State is not quite clean cut.

In Massachusetts, as is expected, David I. Walsh opposes Senator William M. Butler, the Republican candidate for another term, he will do so, among other things, as a wet Democrat.

In New Hampshire, if Senator George H. Moses is returned, it will be as a wet as well as a conservative Republican.

New Jersey, Delaware, Connecticut and Rhode Island, in their Congressional representation, always are wet, but the prohibition issue will figure, as usual, in the coming campaign, with all of them, and the test will, at any rate, determine the present extent of their wetness.

Maryland, also always wet, will be revealed as having grown still wetter

States in which referendums or clear-cut wet and dry political contests this fall will give a test of the extent of anti-prohibition sentiment, voted as follows in the prohibition poll conducted last spring by NEA Service	For Prohibition	For Repeal	For Modification
Calif.	23,671	34,100	91,375
Colorado	39,916	80,041	83,968
Conn.	1,796	19,137	23,014
Delaware	280	1,175	2,258
Illinois	9,362	5,307	13,699
Maryland	582	14,104
Mass.	11,925	12,283	29,392
Missouri	4,052	13,592	12,970
Montana	2,262	2,563	6,490
Nevada	42	360	258
New H.	4,694	7,730	8,122
New Jersey	4,694	7,730	8,122
New York	17,734	16,182	21,000
Ohio	17,478	54,978	72,336
Oregon	1,874	1,975	8,576
Penn.	18,104	40,883	63,778
Rhode Is.	53	87	137
Wisconsin	9,325	16,465	25,563

If it nominates the very wet Representative John Philip Hill for the Senate, on the Republican ticket, in preference to Senator O. E. Weller whose wet-and-dry views are somewhat difficult to ascertain exactly.

Finally, there is an independent wet candidate for governor in Oregon. Besides state-wide prohibition referendums, or contests which will give substantially the same information as would be given by referendums, the wet-and-dry issue will figure in numerous and widely scattered Congressional district fights.

Representative William D. Upshaw, for example, will have a wet candidate opposing him in his Georgia district.

There will be wet and dry candidates in the Fort Worth, (Tex.) and the Fort Wayne (Ind.) districts. Wet and drys will vote it out in the New Orleans district in Louisiana. Reports of a prospective wet Congressional candidate or two come, of all places, from Kansas.

The district contests will not signify much. Nevertheless their results will count in determining the wetness or dryness of the next House of Representatives.

LAKE CONTROVERSY

The Chicago Tribune says the lake states are injuring their own interests by opposing the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway, and that to favor diversion of lake water from the St. Lawrence seaway and to object to the diversion for the gulf project is "destructive idiocy." The Tribune is given to making strong statements. The other day it called Ohio the "dirty brat of the Union" because of its attitude toward the Chicago water steal. Perhaps we can make a few things clear to the Tribune regarding the policies of the lake states which it persistently berates.

The lake states have no objection to a waterway to the gulf, constructed and operated on its merits. What they object to in this project is the insistence of Chicago politicians that the amount of diversion be fixed in the bill authorizing the improvement, and fixed at a point four or five times higher than the engineers declare is necessary for the navigation of a nine-foot channel in the drainage canal and the Illinois river. Everybody knows that Chicago is trying to force this affirmation by congress of her right to divert 8,000 or 10,000 cubic feet of water per second for navigation purposes as a cloak to perpetual steal of water for power and cheap disposal of sewage. She is unwilling to let a bill go through congress authorizing the improvement of the Illinois river without fixing a definite and excessive amount of diversion from the lakes. This notwithstanding the fact that the engineers have said that 4,000 or 1,500 cubic feet of water per second is ample for navigation.

It is not, therefore, the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway project the lake states are fighting. Rather, it is the palpable dishonesty of Chicago in using this undertaking as a cover for the theft of water for local uses. We have maintained all along that Chicago is not interested in the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway on its merits. The lake states are convinced of this fact, and everything in the attitude of Chicago and of its politicians in congress goes to confirm the assumption. Chicago is trying to deceive congress and it is defrauding the entire middle West.

The lake states believe that a seaway by way of the St. Lawrence river is of infinitely greater value nationally, and in particular to the mid-West, than an ocean outlet through the gulf can ever be. They believe the major seaway development should be authorized first. They believe lake levels should not be lowered by diversion to other waterways or to power or sewage purposes by any city or any state. They believe that navigation on the Great lakes should be conserved above all other interior waterway interests. For this attitude the lake states are called "dirty brats" and "destructive idiots" by the Tribune. Only persons and newspapers which have a weak case and whose motives are dishonest resort to name-calling when their purposes are crossed. The truth is Chicago is trying to put over a notorious piece of infamy on the lake states and the mid-West and brands those who are resisting her with the epithets that she herself deserves.

EUGENICS

The science of eugenics is a splendid contribution to the sum of knowledge of the world, and some day it may be the entire regulating force in human marriage arrangements. The effort to make it so, however, will have to be determined and its proponents will have to prepare for a fight, for the majority of people will have none of it.

The world still likes to think of love as the motivating force of marriage. Of course, it approves of diseased persons not being allowed to marry, but it disapproves of marriage being put on a stock farm basis. Men and women want to be free to choose their mates, not because they are fitted to each other for the production of a superior race, but because each mutually pleases the other and a bond of real affection exists. Marriage on any other basis is unthinkable.

ROADS AND THE FARM

Reliable estimates indicate that the United States will spend more than $1,000,000,000 on the building and maintenance of rural roads during the year 1926. This means the disappearance of the "rube" from American life. You may be able to find him on the stage, in vaudeville, in the movies or between the pages of alleged humorous magazines, but not on the farms. The American farmer from now on lives on a main travelled highway. When the day's work is done he is only a few miles away from entertainment. If he prefers to sit by his own fireside he may read his daily paper delivered by the rural routes, get his daily market reports over the radio, or listen to the best music and lectures that America can offer anyone. His children are seldom more than twenty minutes from an excellent school. There they are being trained in the social graces, taught the fundamental principles of culture and living a life as broad as that enjoyed by any of the city children. On commencement day it is impossible to distinguish between the youths from the farms and those from the city.

The cooperative marketing associations have taught him the art of working with other men. The good road makes it possible for him to attend frequent meetings, participate in the discussions and become a part of the busy world of thinking and action. Rural roads put him in easy touch with distant markets. If his local merchant cannot supply him with the goods he wants a couple of hours drive will bring him to a city of twenty thousand or more where he can buy anything he wants.

Improved rural roads mean consolidated schools, less loss in crops, advantageous marketing. The hard surfaced road has done much to give the American farmer his opportunity as a business man. Cooperative marketing, carried to the logical end, will make him a successful business man.

Good roads make good citizens. The election booth is seldom more than five minutes away from the kitchen door and the farmer is voting, and rapidly learning his political lessons. One billion of dollars spent for rural roads means that the American farmer is now living as close to the world as the city dweller. He no longer lives alone, astride his plow. He is on a highway where "the race of men go by."

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

PEOPLE VERSUS DOCTORS

Why in time, inquires woman, don't you tell us what that "health examination" you recommend consists of? Then maybe we'd get in instead of paying a fee to hear "Eat spinach, wave your arms and don't worry about yourself." Family doctor? There ain't no such animal any more. If you didn't shy so everlasting at symptoms what a lot of good you might do just telling people whether they need a doctor or whether they're just symptoms of being alive.

People are certainly queer—sometimes I think they're as queer as doctors. Now I have devoted myself exclusively for several years to the mission of trying to interpret medical science for the layman and lay problems for the medical man. I feel myself I'm a fairly proficient little explainer. I am rather proud of the cracks or peepholes I have made here and there in the great wall of silence and mystery which for ages stood between the profession and the public. Yet I am reminded every day how futile are my feeble assaults.

How earnestly I have tried to make people understand that it is impossible to diagnose minor ills or major diseases by mail or in other words to determine what is the matter with a correspondent. Many readers do understand that. But many more seem to think, as does the correspondent quoted, that it is possible to diagnose by mail. I feel health or in other words to determine that there is nothing the matter, merely from the client's complaint. What a lot of harm I might do just telling people whether they needed a doctor, when as a matter of fact I could only guess about the state of their health.

I have tried the policy of telling everybody, regardless of the state of his health, to consult a physician and this only makes 'em mad. I have preached and praised the plan of a periodic physical test, health examination, overhauling by a physician. This only brings sarcastic rejoinders. I do honestly hope the sarcasm, nothing tickles me more than a bit of keen sarcasm which pierces and smart. But apparent futility of my work in this direction is discouraging; or rather it tends to puncture my pride. I fear I am not much of a teacher, after all.

Family doctor doomed to become extinct? That is perhaps an illusion due to the temporary overproduction of "specialists" and the passing fall of employing "specialists." The modest, well trained, ethical general practitioner is for the moment obscured, but he is still busily engaged in caring for the health of the substantial, sensible portion of the population. A born "specialist" can make more noise over a handful of patients than the family physician would make over a carload.

A "health examination" is a general physical examination, a general medical examination, with such special tests omitted or added as the physician may deem advisable to suit the patient's particular case. No set form or procedure can be laid down. You merely go to your physician and tell him you wish to have a health examination or a periodic physical examination. He will do the right thing—or if you do not believe he will, then you should not have him as your physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. J. High

Is an altitude over 5,000 feet injurious to the heart when it skips beats and palpitates? (M. D.)
Answer—Yes.

Habits

My boy aged 10 has acquired the gum chewing habit. Can this hurt him? Does the use of smoking tobacco have any beneficial effect upon a grown man, 40 years of age? Does it soothe the nerves, aid digestion, keep one from getting sleepy, or anything "worth while"? (M. J. F.)

Answer—The gum will not hurt the boy, but the habit may. The temperate use of tobacco rarely or never harms an adult, but one who resorts to tobacco to soothe the nerves, aid digestion, or keep from going asleep has a harmful habit. The boy should not cultivate the gum chewing habit, he should rather train himself in self control, self denial, self discipline, by going without any gum for as many days a week as he chews gum. The same thing applies to the man in regard to his habit.

ROOZED CYCLIST

GETS $100 FINE;
CYCLE PADLOCKED
(Headline from Fond du Lac Commonwealth)

Now, that's what I call enforcing the law. I suppose if they catch a man drunk on the street they'll padlock the shoes he had on at the time. There is no question about it, I am against the prohibition law.

BRIDES ARE GIVEN SHOWERS TO PREPARE THEM FOR RAINY DAYS.

ADVICE TO THE HEARTBROKEN
No, Leonora, I wouldn't marry the man. He may still believe in Santa Claus.

"John, the gas bill is due tomorrow and I haven't a cent in the house."

"Don't worry, my love, I am going to give you $5 for your birthday, you know."

"DON'T KISS ME PLEASE."
SWEET MARY CRIED,
"IT ISN'T CUSTOMARY."
AND THEN, OH THEN, YOU
SHOULD HAVE HEARD THAT FELLOW CUSTO-MARY.

Marriage, says Bill Eggert, is the banana skin on the door step to romance.

"Maybe your son hasn't found himself yet," we consoled. "Isn't he gifted in any way?"
"Gifted? I should say he is. He ain't got a darned thing that wasn't given to him."

Dot Dash Dave says there is a place for everything except your knees at a movie.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
To clean your rugs thoroughly send them to a cleaners.

She: All is over between us, and I am going to give you back your ring. There is another man.
He: Tell me his name and address.
She: You are going to kill him?
He: By no means! I want to sell him the ring.

BEWARE THE SIGN
As a man grows older and his muscles soften
There's a spot he thinks of very often,
As his lot grows easy and his burdens lighten
He notes with dread that his trousers tighten,
As there's less of fighting and more of feeding
Comes a threat of nature he can't help needing.
For it's there Success puts her probation
On that prosperous growing corporation—
DOWN WHERE THE VEST BEGINS.

A GOWN IS A DRESS AT TWICE THE PRICE!

Q. Are brothers and sisters more blood relation to each other than to their mother and father? T. P.

A. The Eugenics Record Office of the Carnegie Institution says that brothers and sisters are more closely related than father and son, or mother and son. Biographically a father and son have one half common blood, while a brother and sister have all common blood. One contains with his half brother the same amount of common blood that he contains with his father.

Q. Do snakes inhabit cold countries? M. D.

A. Snakes are extremely sensitive to cold. Many of our common North American snakes do not range much farther north than the Canadian border. Others stay south of the Ohio River. The range of the eastern snake is known to extend northward to the region around Great Slave Lake and there are records of the appearance of this snake from the Yukon region. This snake has an exceptionally wide range.

Q. Are there many radios on farms in the United States? H. W. L.

A. Radio receivers on farms now total approximately 1,000,000 according to the latest estimate of the Department of Agriculture.

Q. Is Dickens' read more than Thackeray or Scott? L. B. T.

A. The Publisher's Weekly says that Dickens is more widely read than Thackeray, Eliot, and Scott put together. There are no figures as to totals.

Q. What is a "charter-party"? A. H.

A. A charter-party is the contract entered into by the freighter and the master or owner of a ship, setting forth the terms upon which the ship is hired to freight.

Q. How old are clams when brought to market? M. B. F.

A. The Bureau of Fisheries says that the average clam seen on the market is between four and seven years old. The age of a clam is determined by the heavy ridges found on the shell. These ridges are usually one-quarter of an inch apart.

Q. Please tell when Jerusalem was destroyed? L. B.

A. The Babylonians reduced the City of Jerusalem in the year 586 B. C. Nebuchadnezzar demolished the walls and all principal houses, plundered and destroyed the temple, and carried away to Babylon all except the poorest citizens. Jerusalem remained in ruins for fifty years.

Q. How does the speed at which a movie camera is turned in shooting a picture affect the picture on the screen? A. F.

A. Slowing up the camera speeds up the action. Therefore, if the crank of a camera is turned slowly, the action on the screen appears rapid.

Q. Was Sir Francis Drake a pirate? W. R.

A. Many of the exploits of Drake were looked upon as piracies, but for the most part he had at least quasi-official sanction from his government for what he did.

THE BATTLE ABOUT STYLE

What did Walter Hines Page mean years ago when he said Woodrow Wilson was a "man with a style"? What did the Frenchman mean who said "the style is the man"? What does anyone mean who says a writer has a "beautiful style"?

He question is given a certain timeliness because of a literary controversy that has arisen in regard to Theodore Dreiser's style. Some there are who contend hotly that Dreiser is without a style. Others retort just as hotly that it doesn't make a particle of difference whether he has a style or not—the impact of his latest novel is so great that a more question of style is like talking about the trimming of a gown and ignoring the gown itself. William Lyon Phelps joins the controversy by saying that "style is a great preservative" in literature and that because "An American Tragedy" is without style the chances are that it will sink because of its own weight and bulk and that it will not be a novel for the ages.

ARGUE ABOUT STYLE

One writer declares that Dreiser works like the builders of the pyramids. They left them rough-hewn. But are we to accuse them of not having built works of art? A gentleman of the opposition comes back with a long letter in which he claims that style is the only thing that matters in a work of art. He contends that "Hamlet" is fundamentally no better, as a story, than a Nick Carter yarn, but Shakespeare's style converted it into one of the greatest dramas of all time. He compares Dreiser with Flaubert, a careful stylist, and insinuates that "Madame Bovary" is a novel for the ages and "An American Tragedy" is not; and he holds that style makes all the difference.

The wide difference of opinion in regard to the style of this particular

Editor Post-Crescent—Relative to the candidates for state and senatorial nominations at the coming primaries the press states that the governor is using the progressive cause for personal advancement. Why cannot this be said of the entire bunch of back-room, self-appointed candidates? Where is their much extolled primary election law for the selection of public officials by the electorate?

INDIANS WILL NEVER BECOME GOOD FARMERS

Heritage of Rituals and Ceremonial Dances Will Prevent His Success

Madison—(P)—A heritage of pow-wows, rituals and ceremonial dances from the dim ages when this country was a forest stalked by redskin savages stands between the successful development of 12,000 Wisconsin Indians into farmers.

This was the statement of J. F. Wojta, state leader of county agricultural representatives of the University of Wisconsin extension division, after conducting farm institutes among Wisconsin Indians for the past ten years. The institutes have been held in a dozen Northern Wisconsin cities and villages.

"In the blood of the Indian," he said, "there is an almost ineradicable tendency toward hunting and fighting, dancing and ritual. Possessed of a rich heritage of tradition and imaginative ideas built up through centuries of wandering, we find it difficult to inculcate into the Indian the carefulness and responsibility which a farmer should have. They live in the present to a great extent, having little regard for what the future may bring."

"At planting time, when they should be busy in the fields, they have special ceremonials which must be enacted to appease the evil spirits. This takes time. Then there are various seasons throughout the summer when other rituals and dances must be held in order to fulfill Indian traditions. These things are sacred to them—as sacred as religion to the white man and they resent any interference with their mode of living."

"The only animals the Indian likes are the horse and dog. Pigs, cows and sheep mean nothing to them. The horses they have are expected to forage for themselves. We try and teach them to raise hay for winter feed."

"Hunting and fishing are their favorite occupations of course, but the field for this is becoming limited. The white tourists encourages their dances and ceremonials and pay money to watch them. Some of them work in sawmills, but here they are best at handling logs. Machinery has no appeal for the Indian and he is a very unreliable mechanic."

"Having behind them hundreds of years of living in the woods they are children of nature and the only course left for them is agriculture."

"There is hope however for the Indian as a farmer. Within the last fifteen or twenty years, there has grown up a group of landowners, some of them having farms ranging from 1 to 100 acres. Some of them have even taken to dairying."

"In our institute work, we are often amused by their insistence on and love of their dances. They will attend an institute lecture and listen attentively. But when the last word is said they are off to the dance where in the light of the campfire they go through the same contortions that their ancient forbears did in past centuries."

Out of the Grab-Bag!

OH, THEY work it slick all right.

Grab-bag fuels, unknown in origin, unproved in value, know every trick of plying their beguiling blandishments on the native instinct to "take a chance".

Flashy pumps, bright lights, enticing price tags, mysterious virtues and marvelous "processes," small wonder that the cautioning nudge of Old Lady Common Sense is brushed aside!

Steer clear of "sight unseen" values, and unknown gas that undertakes no responsibility toward your car. Your motor investment is too important to risk when all you can gain is the meaningless saving of a few cents at the brief moment of filling.

Wadhams 370 True Gasoline (at the Yellow Pumps) is your fuel of definite, positive, known character — responsibly sold — with a clearly defined duty to you, to your pocket-book, to your motor safety—and ready to show that responsibility in advance and to prove it by past history.

Its known and superior value costs no more because the slight extra amount paid at the pump is repaid to the last cent before your tank is empty — repaid in extra smoothness, power, pick-up and actual mileage, with prolonged safety to your motor thrown in for extra measure.

Grab-bagging may be fun — but if you must gamble, do it on a plane where you can control the extent of your loss — not in the expensive realm of motor damage.

Meat Loaf Saves Time In Summer

Under the influence of hot weather everybody knows that the human body may often be a little restless in its demand for attractively prepared meals. A little thought in planning and cooking the food will fully meet this difficulty of summer. If a woman's morning hours are made to do double duty, the afternoon will be free for the enjoyment of cool breezes, an afternoon-chat, or some other refreshing pleasure.

Meals almost necessarily are best planned a day or two in advance and marketing should be reduced to its simplest form. For this purpose a list of food combinations might be kept conveniently near for reference.

For lunches, dinners or suppers, the meat course serves most readily as a point around which the other foods may be grouped. The reference list therefore, should contain a large number of meat dishes which can be quickly prepared or which can be cooked during the forenoon while other work is in progress.

Meat loaves are well adapted to cooking in advance, whether they are to be served hot or cold. Beef loaf is always a popular type but it should not be repeated to the exclusion of others made from veal, pork, lamb, chicken, or combinations of these meats. Ham and liver also add to the possible selections.

One and one-half pound veal ground fine, one-quarter pound bacon slightly browned and chopped fine, one cup fresh bread crumbs, one egg beaten, one and one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon grated onion, one-half tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, one-half teaspoon celery salt, one small sprig of parsley chopped fine, one-quarter cup stock (approximately).

Moisten crumbs with the liquid, add egg, meat and seasonings. Mix thoroughly, mold, sprinkle with crumbs, bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) about two hours. Baste occasionally if necessary. Chill thoroughly. Turn from baking pan and slice.

FASHION HINTS

SMART ACCESSORY

The white silk waistcoat does add a note of smartness to the blue tailored suit.

GOOD SILHOUETTE

Straightline coats of metallic cloth or lame, lined only with chiffon or crepe de chine are liked for evening wear. They are charming with pastel colored chiton frocks.

SUEDE POPULAR

Suede has returned to popularity for footwear, particularly for the oxfords that tie about the ankle.

PAISLEY PUMPS

Smart new pumps for evening wear are of gold metal cloth woven in paisley pattern in paisley colorings.

CONTRASTING LEATHER

The heel of this season's pump is quite apt to be of a contrasting leather with the rest of the shoe.

LOOK COMFORTABLE

Pumps of Panama straw, or of woven raffia or braided leather, are much liked for summer. They may not be cooler than kid or canvas, but at least they look as if they were.

OLD FAVORITE

A very thin and supple type of broadcloth is used to make attractive straightline coats.

Women's Allure

no longer impeded under hygienic handicaps—new way offers true protection; discards like tissue

FRESH, charming, immaculate under ALL conditions. Sheer gowns worn without a second's fear, any time, any day!

If you seek this added charm, stop employing old-time "sanitary pads," insecure, uncertain.

Eight in 10 better-class women now employ "KOTEX" . . . a new way, 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Absorbs and deodorizes at the same time, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

✓ You discard it as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy, at any drug or department store, simply by saying "KOTEX."

In fairness to yourself, try this amazing way. Costs only a few cents. Comes twice in a package.

THREE NEW HAIRCUTS! TANGO, CHARLESTON, HESITATION

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

New York—Since jazz has exerted such a tremendous influence on art and letters, and has stamped our deportment on our clothes, it is not surprising to find it influencing our bobbed heads.

Jazz haircuts are now the vogue in hair. "The Charleston" and "Tango" have just been created by Emil, one of New York's most fashionable cutters, who frequently turns academic and lectures at Columbia University. "They may be the swan song as well," he admits "for while there is no end in sight for the bob, there is bound to come a return of interest in long hair."

INCONSTANT WOMAN

Nothing endures, is his idea. "Search the ages," he urges, "beginning with Eve, and coming down to Peggy Joyce, and you cannot find one permanent fashion. Revivals, yes, because in due course, every style returns to favor. But no one mode, however beautiful, has ever been able to withstand woman's instinct for variety and change. Neither can the bob."

Already there are indications that a less severe style of hairdressing is on the way, he believes.

"Larger hats, for instance," he points out. "They call for a softer line about the face. The very severe mannish cut that was the vogue last winter is giving way to a feminine softness. That was what inspired my new Charleston and Tango cuts—a curl to preserve the femininity—to assure you the masculinity is only feigned."

"No woman really wants to lose her femininity. As soon as she realizes she has, she will change her mode of dressing. That is the secret of the French woman's supremacy in dress. She never tries to look like a man. When she steals some masculine style she gives it a feminine touch."

WANTS SMALL HEAD

At present, Emil says, every woman wants her head to look small. Practically all the smart bobs require that the victim be "thinned" as well as cut so the line of the head may be clearly defined.

Those who are letting their hair grow are usually the debs and sub-debs, he finds. They have never had long hair, and consequently to have a "bun" is as much of a thrill as it was to their mothers to get rid of one.

A woman who had years of experience with hairpins and maybe with switches and puffs, is not eager to repeat the experience.

Emil has also created another hair style, "Hesitation," which is for the hair which is in the growing, in stage. It is waved softly in a thoroughly feminine fashion, and rolled up at the neckline.

"I call it 'Hesitation,'" he laughs,

ANNA STERNO WITH A "TANGO" HAIRCUT, ISABEL ZEHNER, WHO REPRESENTS CHICAGO IN NATIONAL CHARLESTON CONTEST WEARING THE "CHARLESTON," AND NINA SOREL WITH A "HESITATION."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST: Apple sauce, cereal; cooked with figs, thin cream, creamed dried beef on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Spinach and egg salad, cottage cheese and strawberry preserves, sandwiches, milk, tea.

DINNER: Broiled fish with lemon garnish, ten minute cabbage, stuffed tomato salad, bran rolls, rice pudding with gooseberry sauce, milk, coffee.

The tomatoes are stuffed with celery, olives and nuts combined with mayonnaise for the dinner salad.

No potatoes or "starchy" vegetable is suggested in the dinner menu but rice is served for the dessert.

Rice Pudding with Gooseberry Sauce. Two-thirds cup rice, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup hot milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg.

Wash rice through many waters. "not after the waltz, but the state of mind. Not one woman in ten really goes through with the growing out process." She merely hesitates—then decides to go back to the bob."

Household Hints

FOR THE FALL

Add milk and soap jelly to starch and the mixture will remove mildew stains.

MAKES 'EM WHITE

Put a teaspoonful of powdered borax to the water in which you rinse white clothes, and you will find them perceptibly whiter.

GIVES A GLOSS

Rub linseed oil over the top of the gas stove to prevent rusting.

CANNING TRICK

When pouring hot preserves or boiling fruit juice into a jar, always put a silver spoon into the jar before you pour in the hot liquid. This

Cover with cold water and let stand two hours. Drain. Put, rice and boiling water in top of double boiler and cook over hot stove until water is absorbed. Add milk, salt and sugar and cook until rice is soft, stir in egg well beaten and cook two minutes longer. Turn into a buttered mold and let stand until cool. Chill on ice.

Top and tail 2 cups of gooseberries. Wash and drain. Put 3/4 cup water into a smooth sauce-pan, add 2/3 cup sugar and gooseberries. Stew until berries are soft. Stir in 1 tablespoonful of cornstarch moistened in cold water and cook, stirring constantly for five minutes. Turn rice from mold, pour over sauce, garnish with whipped cream and serve.

tempers the glass so it does not break.

SALE IS GOOD

Salt is an exceedingly good cleaner for milk jugs and basins.

LOOK LIKE NEW

Peach stains are obstinate, but they yield before this treatment. Apply powdered starch and leave for several hours until the mark has been absorbed. Then apply camphor.

WASH EASIER

Always rinse the glasses that have held milk, in cold water before you put them in hot soap suds.

SAVES THE SMELL

The objectionable odor left by onions on paring knives may be overcome if you rub them briskly with coarse salt.

HELPS A LOT

Glycerine is the perfect lubricant for the egg beater or meat chopper.

TRY THIS ONE

A swinging shelf is very convenient in the kitchen or cellar and may be accommodated where a cupboard or table would be out of the question.

WON'T EAT HOLES

When you go away for the summer, take the precaution to sprinkle borax under the carpets and thus keep away the moths.

AND ON TUESDAY

You bring out a better gloss on linen if you iron it while quite wet with very hot irons.

FIX THE COLORS

Add a tablespoonful of epsom salts to each gallon of water in which you wash and rinse colored clothes and they will be less likely to fade or run.

MORE COMFORTABLE

Never wring woolen sweaters or baby garments. Hang them up on the line dripping wet and they will not shrink.

Grow Hair this New Way!

Results Are Guaranteed

An entirely new method of scalp treatment has been perfected. It is totally unlike anything you have ever seen or heard of before. Its simplicity will delight you. Its results amaze you. But one treatment a week for most hair troubles. There is no after-odor. No greasy effect.

Schorrhea
Well may you wonder at the marvelous results of this treatment. But we have studied hair troubles scientifically—and discovered some amazing facts. We found that the hair bulbs seldom die from natural causes. They don't come out with the hair. But frequently they become weakened. Schorrhea is most often the cause. The hair now becomes dull, lifeless and starts falling excessively—evenually baldness takes place. But here is the marvelous thing. Remove infection—stimulate dormant hair bulbs to renewed activity and the hair grows again.

READ WHAT THESE STIM USERS SAY

"I consulted Dr. — of Johnstown, Pa., my home town. His recommendation for this was 'STIM' — I had occasion to have my hair trimmed to a little last week and the barber noticed a lot of new hair coming out along the front and sides where I was principally troubled."
(Miss) M. L., Youngtown, Pa.

"I have been using STIM and find it the best thing for baldness and hair loss. I have been using it for a long time and my hair is growing again."
(Mrs.) J. E. D., Chicago, Ill.

"My hair is white and I never knew it could be so pretty. I fully intend after a STIM treatment, (Mrs.) J. E. D., Chicago, Ill.

Now we have found a way of combating Schorrhea. A new method of stimulating hair growth. This treatment is called STIM. It is not a mere tonic. Hence its amazing success. But one application each week is needed for most scalp troubles.

Results Now Guaranteed

No matter what your condition—or how many "tonics" you have used without avail—you now owe it to yourself to give this scientific method a fair trial. It must stop falling hair. Must destroy Dandruff. Must stimulate new hair growth—or it costs nothing. You are the sole judge. In every package is our written guarantee that results must satisfy you or money back. Could we possibly make you a fairer offer? We urge you to accept it today. SANITAS CO., Brooklyn, N. Y. AS

SELF SERVICE IS NEW INNOVATION IN DRESS STORE

Garmentaries, or self-service dress shops, are run and regulated on the same principal as the cafeterias.

There are several such shops in the east, and many more are opening throughout the country. By eliminating the cost of salespeople, delivery wagons, charge accounts, etc., the self-service shop is able to sell direct to the customer at wholesale prices frocks which would cost at least one-third more in an ordinary shop.

The same types of dresses which the retail shops carry are sold in the self-service stores. The large store of this sort in New York is a huge barn-like building in the lower part of the city. There are no saleswomen urging one to enter. There are no carpets on the floors. Rows of dresses, hundreds of different models—are arranged on racks according to sizes and prices. One is permitted to select as many dresses as one wishes and to take them to a huge mirrored dressing room. There is no one to assist in the trying on of the garments. A few salesgirls stand on chairs about the wall to overlook their customers. Having found the dress which suits one, one takes it to a cashier for its purchase.

The dresses are grouped under various prices. The average sports dress of a good quality of crepe de chine or georgette cost $9.95. This same dress would cost around $15 in another sort of shop. Other dresses of dressy or evening type sell for $14.85 and they would cost at least a third more elsewhere. There are no leftovers from other seasons in the self-service store. Every dress is new and of good material and make. A dress may be returned if it proves unsatisfactory but very few dresses are returned since one is not coerced, by a salesperson, to buy in the first place.

Fibers of some kinds of milkweed have been used in making rope.

TIE CLERKS IN LEAGUE HONORSDefeat Mulford Specials
Thursday in Close Game
by 7 to 6 Score

Kaukauna—The Bankers remained in a tie with the Clerks for first place in the Kaukauna Twilight Softball league by virtue of their 7 to 6 victory over the Mulford Specials Thursday evening. Both the Clerks and the Bankers are undefeated so far in the second half of the league season. H. Olm pitched for the Bankers and A. Youngberg was on the mound for Mulford.

A close decision in the Mulford half of the seventh nearly disrupted the game. Michel, at bat for Mulford, bunted one which apparently landed in foul territory and the umpire called it a fair ball. Olm, the pitcher, recovered the ball and although there was a man on third he made no attempt to play on him because he believed it to be a foul ball. The result was that the player on third slipped home several minutes of heated argument followed and the umpire handed his decision to the Bankers and the run didn't count. The entire Banker team had threatened to quit if the original decision was allowed to stand.

Mulford scored three times in the first and the Bankers took the lead by scoring four men. Both counted once in the second and everything was quite in the third and fourth. The Bankers brought two more home in the fifth and the clerks scored twice in the sixth.

Batteries: Mulford—Youngberg and Robideau; Bankers—Olm and Spindler.

Score by innings:

Mulford	3	1	0	0	2	0	—6
Bankers	4	1	0	0	2	0	—7

It is thought that a stray tramp or follower of the carnival used the room for the night, as there is no wiring in the place, and the room was unlocked. STAGE AND SCREEN

GOLDEN COCOON

Even the most faded of pictures goers will find "The Golden Cocoon," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen, at the Elite Theatre for the last time today, a refreshing change from the usual round of screen entertainment.

To begin with, the story—that of a woman's great sacrifice for her husband—has been handled with unusual skill by Director Millard Webb, and does not run into any of the hackneyed grooves. Then, too, Helene Chadwick's performance of the leading feminine role is so sincere a characterization that the sympathy of the audience is immediately enlisted in her behalf.

Huntley Gordon, the husband, is a hero who would make a young wife's sacrifice convincing; and the cruelty of Frank Campeau in another of his fine villainous characterizations is enough to distress any screen heroine. Richard Tucker, as the fascinating but unworthy professor who wins the love of the girl, makes his performance stand out in a production where all are excellent. Others in the cast are Margaret Seddon, Carrie Clark Ward, Charles McHugh and Violet Kane.

The beautiful photography is the work of Byron Haskins; and with Hope Loring and Louis Lighton responsible for the scenario, this adaptation of Ruth Cross's popular novel bursts her golden cocoon, is well worth seeing.

THE LADY OF THE HAREM

Three thousand swimmers, braving the treacherous waters of a mighty river to save their brave leader...

A pitched battle between the court guards of Khorasan and an army of rebels.

An original bacchanal that for savagery and beauty has never been equaled.

Those are but three of the scenes of tremendous beauty which develop in "The Lady of the Harem."

The story is laid in the glittering Persian city of Khorasan during the period of the Arabian Nights.

Because Greta Nissen's father is unable to pay his taxes, the soldiers of the oppressive Sultan seize Miss Nissen to sell her at the slave market.

There, despite the efforts of her lover, William Collier, Jr. and of Ernest Torrence, a kind hearted collector, she is purchased for the Sultan's harem. That he may recover the girl, Collier joins a band of beggars and incites them to swear court.

The tyrant sends a message of appeal, purporting to be from Miss Nissen. When Collier responds, he is taken prisoner and sentenced to a protected death.

Torrence, learning of his friend's fate, hastily organizes a rescue party. One night the sky is suddenly lighted with flaming arrows—signal of the insurrection. Three thousand swimmers plunge into the river and strike the tower the castle to save the girl.

The terrific battle that follows with the palace walls, the breaking up of a bacchanalian orgy and the saving of Collier and Nissen all go to make "The Lady of the Harem" one of the most tremendous gripping spectacles ever put upon the screen. It comes to the Fishers Appleton Theatre next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday.

DRAMATIC ROLE GIVEN FLAPPER QUEEN

Wauwagea.—The East Central Barbers' association convention was held Monday evening at Gerold's hall. Covers were laid for seventy at a banquet in the dining hall at 7:00 o'clock. Many of the leading men of the trade were present and the meeting was marked with numerous interesting speeches.

Clason, Charles Rogers, New London; Louis Holzhauser, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Barbers' association; William Smith, president of the barber's union; Irving Jung, delegate to the recent state convention of barbers at Milwaukee. STARS MINGLE WITH EXTRAS AT LUNCH

Hollywood.—(AP)—One place in the larger studios where all meet on a common level is the studio lunch room.

Whether at the Paramount or First National, stars and world famous directors obtain the same food and service as the extras. While working at Paramount, Eugene O'Brien often is noticed eating directly from the counter with a prop man in overalls on one side and a Klieg attendant on the other.

Stuart Holmes is remarkably well cast as the super-villain, according to critics who have seen the picture, while Ralph Lewis gives an excellent interpretation of the father. Forrest Stanley plays opposite Miss Bow, and other parts are filled by William T. Mong, J. Emmett Beck, and Adele Farrington.

CONTINUE STUDIES IN GAUGING LIGHT SPEED

Pasadena, Calif.—(AP)—Dr. Albert A. Michelson, world famed physicist of the University of Chicago, will continue this summer and fall at Mt. Wilson observatory studies of the velocity of light interrupted last year by an accident.

One of the delicate and costly mirrors which were set up on neighboring mountain peaks to volley the light beams back and forth, was shattered by the terrific speed at which it was rotated last summer. This necessitated discontinuing the experiments.

To meet such an emergency in the renewal of the studies, three additional mirrors have been made.

Safety First Maxim For Men Sporting Suspenders

Youth is reckless, but when a man reaches that hazy state of life known as middle age, he becomes cautious—and wears suspenders.

"About 50 per cent of Appleton men 45 years old and upward are wearing suspenders today but won't admit it," say Appleton clothing merchants. "About 25 per cent of the older men are wearing what we call 'invisible' suspenders that are put on under the shirt, and the rest all keep a pair handy for special occasions. They all want to be in style, but they won't sacrifice comfort to get it."

Fifteen years ago, according to dealers, clothing manufacturers started making trousers with lower waist lines. Prior to that time there had always been a number of men who wore belts entirely, but 30 per cent of them wore suspenders. The new waist lines multiplied the demand for belts several times over, and in five years the percentage of men wearing suspenders had dropped from 90 per cent to 15 per cent where, with minor fluctuations, it remains today.

"It used to be that women were considered vain creatures, but now they've got nothing on the men," say clothing dealers. "Before the change to lower waist lines most men wore suspenders all the time but now a man's just as 'finicky' about his every-day working clothes as he is about his 'Sunday-best.' The younger fellows wear belts because they're in style but the older men have discovered a way by which they can have style and comfort at the same time. That's why they wear suspenders. In cold weather they wear any old kind, but as soon as it turns warm and they begin to take off their coats and vests, or have reason to put on formal clothes, they don a pair of 'invisibles' and stick a belt on top. Dealers must always make allowance for fads, no matter what the style is. That is why Appleton dealers are getting in their new fall stock of fancy suspenders for young fellows. "We've got some nice, fancy ones here," said one dealer, "and we expect to sell a whole flock of 'em when college opens this fall."

PHARMACY STUDENTS TURNING TO SCIENCE

Madison—(P)—While the art of running a corner drug store is the ambition of many pharmacy students, a growing number are working toward a more scientific career. Director Edward Kremers, of the course in pharmacy at the University of Wisconsin, said here.

Today pharmaceutical apprenticeship is all but a thing of the past. Mr. Kremers said. "When the course was established in 1883 most of those entering the pharmacy course had served apprenticeships and wanted specialized training. They knew what they wanted."

"Today, not all of them know what branch of pharmacy they will enter. To most young men and women the drug store seems to be the only opening. After studying the general sciences and their application to pharmacy for a few years, they frequently prefer a scientific career to that of a drug clerk proprietor."

Such students, he said, may find openings in the laboratories of the large manufacturing plants, in government service and elsewhere. Others having been chosen as assistants in one of the departmental laboratories, find positions in pharmacy schools. A smaller number to writing, and find positions on editorial staffs of pharmaceutical journals.

Many kinds of bugs invade the home. BLACK FLAG kills them all. None is immune. This greatest of insect-destroyers completely rids a place of fleas, bed-bugs, ants, roaches, moths. 16-YEAR-OLD BOY SAVES PLAYMATE FROM DROWNING

Clarence Nosske Pulls Youth from Fox River and Revives Him

Clarence Nosske, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nosske, Weimer-st proved himself a hero and a quick thinker when he saved Gustave Filz, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Filz, 111 S. Walter-st. from drowning in the Fox river at noon Wednesday.

A group of boys are in the habit of swimming in the Fox river near Telulah Springs. A number of old barges have been docked there for some time and the boys make use of the barges to dive from. While in swimming Wednesday, The little Filz boy ventured into deep water and began to sink. He called for help and his older brother Frederick, 11, jumped into the river after him, although he could not swim well himself.

Frederick reached his brother but was unable to hold the youngster up as he struggled and clung to him, forcing both boys under water. The rest of the boys on the barge became frightened and called for help. Nosske who is employed by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Griebner, who live just a short distance from the river, heard the cry and came to the rescue.

Nosske grasped the situation in a glance and without waiting to take off his clothes jumped into the river after the two boys. By the time he reached the struggling pair Frederick had managed to break away from his younger brother. Nosske went after the younger Filz, who had disappeared from sight. Nosske dove several times in an effort to locate the lad but was unable to do so. Finally, the boy came up to the surface a third time and Nosske grasped him and brought him to the barge.

Noticing that the youth was unconscious and realizing it would be dangerous to waste time running for help, Nosske immediately set to work to resuscitate the boy. He pressed him back and forth on the end of the barge and brought the little lad back to life, and then went his way without waiting to be thanked for his deed.

Neither of the Filz boys suffered any after effects, although the younger one was kept in bed for a day, as he was very weak.

THOUSANDS SEE 101 RANCH SHOW

Threatened Rain Throughout Day Fails to Decrease Large Crowd

Thousands of Appleton and Outagamie-co residents saw Miller Bros. 101 Ranch show Thursday afternoon and evening. Threatened rain throughout the day increased rather than decreased the crowd for numerous farmers who would have remained at home had the weather promised fair, decided to make a Roman holiday of it at the "circus."

The performance opened with an oriental parade, which included a gay cavalcade of multi-colored horsemen,

BUFFALOES ESCAPE
Several buffaloes of the 101 Ranch show escaped from the herd Thursday evening after the performance. As there were no open ranges to permit them to follow the ways of their ancestors, they seemed well content to make themselves at home in gardens of residents in the vicinity. Cowboys on the show arose to the occasion by releasing several steers among the buffaloes. The latter then followed the steers back to the corral.

a small company of footmen, and lavishly caparisoned elephants and camels mounted by queens of the har-ems.

"Little Orphan Annie" and her elephants provided one of the feature acts of the show. "Pee Wee," the giant of the tribe, also was there in the role of the star performer. Much applause was given the group of acrobatic performers and tumblers.

The 101 Ranch horses were the attraction of the show, of course. They are among the finest to be found anywhere, and are thoroughly trained.

A gentleman of Hebraic extraction and his "constable" companion relieved the "anguish of waiting," and they did it rather well, the while spurs and cowboys and blanketed Indians treaded their ways between the close-packed spectators, with beads and dry witticisms.

NAMES OF ALL KINDS SEEN AT LOCAL HOTELS

What's in a name? Appleton hotel owners don't claim to know, but they say that Walterskirchen is the longest and most uncommon name recently entered upon their register. And to Nyes, the same name as that of one of our youngest senators, is extended the distinction of the shortest title.

According to hotel register, people from all over the country meet here daily. The four corners of the nation are represented, but Chicago sends the most visitors. Milwaukee, also is well represented every day.

EGGERT IS REELECTED HEAD OF MAENNERCHOR

William Eggert was reelected president of the Appleton Maennerchor at the annual meeting Thursday evening at Trades and Labor hall. All other officers also were reelected.

They are: Otto Schaeffer, vice president; Herman Preutz, corresponding secretary; Adam Goos, finance secretary; Jacob Hopfengartner, librarian; Peter Jacobs, director. Herman Filz was elected trustee for three years.

ARREST ONE PERSON AT CIRCUS GROUNDS

One person was arrested Thursday by Appleton police at the show grounds of the Miller Bros. 101 Ranch, police report. The man who was held was alleged to be intoxicated, and the arrest was made on a street adjoining the ground, and not upon the ground itself. Two other arrests for drunkenness were made Thursday in different parts of the city.

No disturbances of any kind were apparent at the two performances, nor were any thefts or brawls reported to the policemen who patrolled the grounds, according to George T. Prim, chief of police. Traffic was handled in a creditable manner by members of the department, and not a single accident of any kind occurred on the grounds or elsewhere in the city during the day or evening, in spite of the fact that hundreds of automobiles were present from all parts of this and other counties.

Dean Goodnight Scores Road Houses As "Vicious"

Madison—(P)—The roadhouse was described as an "up-to-the-minute den of iniquity" and the "more subtle and vicious successor of the old time saloon," by Dean Scott H. Goodnight, writing in the "Greybook," a copy of which is given to each freshman entering the University of Wisconsin. "The roadhouse is more subtle," Dean Goodnight said, "because it is—often at least—obeys the law and does not purvey liquor, but merely provides attractions for those who carry it and a rendezvous for bootleggers and customers. More vicious, because under the cloak of providing legitimate pleasures (dancing and refreshments) and of semi-respectability ('the best people come') it attracts the inexperienced and unwary into an environment where they meet in most insidious form every temptation to immorality (don't forget that the worst people come in far greater numbers than the best). We cater to hipsters' suavity remarked the proprietor of a notorious roadhouse near Madison to one of our students recently. "He was telling the truth, and a dozen students who have been suspended or otherwise penalized for unbecoming conduct during the past few months began in his roadhouse the evening which proved their undoing. They were not all 'hippers' by any means, and their intentions, doubtless, were not at all bad when they started to go there, but that did not save them from disaster. "The University cannot abolish roadhouses. It cannot even prevent students from going to them. It does, however, disapprove of them, openly and unequivocally, and any student who goes there does so at his own risk. There are plenty of places where students may dance and have refreshments amid wholesome surroundings. These places comply with proper requirements and have authorization to conduct student parties. They are less expensive and they have better floors and better music than the roadhouses. "A Wisconsin student who patronizes a roadhouse, deliberately elects the worse in preference to the better and enters an environment in which the best character will soon begin to deteriorate."

JUSTICE RECALLS WHEN CHURCH WAS ERECTED

Menasha—While observing the progress being made in remodeling the old Congregational church building from his office window on the opposite side of the street, Herman Luckenbach, justice of the peace, recalled Friday when the structure was built. It was in 1866, he said, and Cummings and Williams, two town of Vinland farmers, were awarded the contract.

They drove to the city each morning and returned home at night. They owned a colt only a few weeks old which the justice, who was then only a few years old, was anxious to possess. He was told by one of the contractors that if he carried brick faithfully for a week he could have it for a pet, the justice declared. He took the matter seriously and at the end of the week was aid in coin instead.

The two contractors laid the brick which have just been removed and will be replaced by new brick, and Peter Luckenbach, father of the justice, moved the mortar. Instead of ladders the hodcarriers used an inclined runway that ran from the ground at the rear to the top of the church in front with other runways branching off at different levels as the work progressed.

VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION 1926 by G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY
In Harbor Gardens, Long Island in an elaborate bungalow, lived PERRY HEATH, and his wife, MYRA.

At the time the story opens the Heaths were entertaining as house guests:

LAWRENCE INMAN, a distant relative of MYRA's, and, aside from Perry, the only help in the considerable fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of MYRA's. MYRA Heath was a peculiar woman. She was cold, sarcastic and decidedly not in love with her husband. She never used cosmetics or dressed in colors. She had a passion for collecting rare old bottles and her latest was an old whiskey bottle which was quite perfect but which annoyed her artistic husband to scorn.

There is a growing intimacy between Inman and MYRA Heath and between Bunny and Perry. MYRA becomes provoked at Bunny's infatuation for her husband and declares that she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting Perry off.

It develops that Perry is a candidate for presidency of the Country Club and his chief opponent is a man named SAM ANDERSON. Bunny, thumbing through a portfolio of Heath's drawings, runs across a card marked "The Work of Perry Heath."

That night, after Bunny and Inman retire, MYRA Heath alludes mysteriously to her husband's "secret." When Perry goes to bed, Inman comes down stairs, and he and MYRA are in each other's arms when Perry Heath discovers them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV
It was characteristic of MYRA that she showed no surprise or embarrassment.

She remained in Inman's embrace and turned her face to her husband with a slight frown of irritation at the intrusion.

Larry, too, was apparently undismayed, and stood his ground, as he took his cue from MYRA.

"Then it's now a case of the time, the place and the loved one all together," he said, lightly. "Go ahead, Perry, have your say."

"There's not so much to say," Heath lighted a cigarette. "But as an interested bystander, I'd like to know what you two propose to do."

"That's only natural, I'm sure," Inman remarked. "What are we going to do, MYRA?"

"You're going to do what I tell you," cried Heath, suddenly wrathful. "You, Larry, will go to your room at once, pack your things and get out of here the first thing in the morning."

"And if I refuse to obey?"

"You won't refuse. You are a mercenary. I have caught you down here holding a clandestine meeting with my wife. I find her in your arms. I have a right to shoot you!"

"Why don't you?" asked Inman, with maddening coolness.

"You're not worth it!" Heath glared at him. Not worth the powder and shot it would take to kill you. Get out. I tell you! Go upstairs, and before I am down in the morning, you are to be far away from here and never come back. Got that?"

"Yes, Heath, I get that."

"Go, then," and Inman went, and again the husband and wife were alone together.

Mrs. Prentiss always sat down to her breakfast at half-past eight o'clock. If truth were told, she would have preferred an earlier hour, but Harbor Gardens People were late risers, and eight-thirty was just about the earliest one could breakfast with decency.

Most of the Gardeners liked nine o'clock better, and many were later still.

This summer, her nephew, one Todhunter, Buck was spending the month of June with her. And as he was a docile and good-tempered chap, whom she had loved from babyhood on, she ruled him with a rod of iron, at least regarding her household appointments.

So Todhunter, whose awkward ancestral name had long since been reduced to Toddy, almost always beamed at his aunt across her maternal table.

In available weather, this table was laid on the pleasant bungalow porch which gave on the Western landscape and commanded a fairly good view of the Heath home. Being on the north horn of the crescent shaped harbor, these houses faced south.

"Toddy," said Mrs. Prentiss, as she poured the coffee, "there were queer doings at the Heath house last night."

"So?" said the youth, with a nervous, furtive showing of interest. "Jazz?"

"No, they're not that sort. Oh, I forgot you don't know them, of course, you having arrived only yesterday. But there's a girl over there that you'll like."

"Pretty?" Toddy sat up.

"More than pretty. — a vision of angelic beauty!"

"Gosh, Auntie, never heard you rave before!"

"And she's a nice girl, too. Oh, flapper and all that, but with some sense in her silly head. But I was telling you about last night."

"No, you weren't, you hadn't begun."

"Well, I will, if you'll be still a minute. I couldn't sleep—"

"Poor old auntie, I know. It must be awful to be so wakeful."

"It's terrible, Todhunter. You've no idea what it means to lie with wide open eyes and hear the clock strike the hours and half hours all through the night."

"No, why have a striking clock?"

"So I'll know what time it is, stupid. Well, last night, I was prowling about my room.—I do that when I just get worn out lying in bed awake—"

"Yes, go on. When does the pretty girl come in?"

"Not at all. Be quiet, will you? The people next door all went to bed some time before twelve o'clock."

"No!"

"Hush. Don't be silly. And then, a little later, say, about midnight, there was a small light, a dim one, in the studio. That's the room at this end of the house."

"H'm, I suppose the pretty girl came down to the library to get a book. They always do that."

"Well, maybe. Then after a short time there was a big light flashed on—"

"Of course. The hero of the story comes down and finds girl, in bewitching negligee, with her hair down—"

"Will you be still! Well, then, about one o'clock the lights all went out except for two tiny sparks, that looked like two candles."

"And probably were. The two big sparks being the girl and the man."

"Hush, I'm serious. Tod, for after that, oh—half an hour after, the big light was flashed on again, stayed on for a short time, then went off, leaving the two little dim lights again."

"Got you, Proceed."

"Then after another interval, comes the big lights again, and then, later, that goes out and the two little lights stay there all the rest of the night."

"Till what time?"

"I don't know. I stopped watching and went back to bed about three. The little lights were burning then, and when I awoke it was broad daylight."

"Well, Aunt Em, I don't think you've detailed such a very astounding sequence of events after all. Lights on and off in a house, are not of unprecedented occurrence."

"No. But what were the two little lights that stayed on through all the other ups and downs of the big lights?"

"Night lights, I suppose—"

"Nonsense! I've lived next door to the Heaths since the first of May, and they never burnt night lights before."

"Always has to be a first time. But what do you want me to say? I'll agree it's amazing, alarming, terrifying—anything you wish. But I don't get it."

"That's just it, Tod. I don't get it either. I think something has happened over there."

"Do you separate the letters of your words when you write, Auntie?"

"You ought to know. I often write to you Why?"

"Yes, I know you do. I remember now. You write half a word, and then take up your pen and put it down a bit further on, to finish it."

"Well, what of it?"

"Only that it means that the writer has intuition to a marked degree. So my adored Aunt, I believe your assumption is right, and something did happen next door, last night. Your intuition has a right to shoot you!"

"Why don't you?" asked Inman, with maddening coolness.

"You're not worth it!" Heath glared at him. Not worth the powder and shot it would take to kill you. Get out. I tell you! Go upstairs, and before I am down in the morning, you are to be far away from here and never come back. Got that?"

"Yes, Heath, I get that."

BARNYARD'S SIAMESE TWINS

The barnyard has its Siamese twins, as well as the circus, and here's a pair hatched on the poultry farm of Ernest Stromberg of Fort Dodge, Ia. Born from one egg, the chicks are joined together at the breast bone as far back as the wings. They are healthy and thriving.

tuition is doubtless correct. What do you suppose the happening was?"

"Toddy, you are a trial. I never know whether you're interested in what I'm saying, or just poking fun at me."

"Both, dear. That is, I'm interested in the pretty girl. Tell me more about her."

"Oh, she has yellow hair and blue eyes and a skin like peaches and cream. She's a friend of Mrs. Heath's and I think she has bewitched Mr. Heath. She would bewitch any man not totally blind."

"Yet you like her, Aunt?"

"Yes, she's a dear girl. Sort of homelike and gentle-mannered with older persons like me. But I expect she's a hoyden among her own crowd."

"She's younger than the Heaths, then?"

"Yes; Bunny is twenty-two. The Heaths are both over thirty."

"Me for the Bunny! Why the kittenish name?"

"Her name is Berenice. But she's always called Bunny."

"Oh, well, I'd just as lief call her that as anything. When can I see her?"

"Today, probably. They'll all be at the Gresham's this afternoon, and we'll be there, too."

"All right, but I'll hang about outside this morning, and hope to catch a preliminary glimpse of the universal charmer."

Toddy, having finished his breakfast, lighted a cigarette, as he glanced over toward the Heath house.

But he saw no sign of the occupants nor even any servants about, opening doors or windows.

And then, just as aunt and nephew rose from the table, there came to their ears a loud scream from the house next door.

TELLS BENEFIT OF MAN-TO-MAN TALKS IN PRISON

Warden Claims Straight Forward Speech Helps Reform Convicts

Rawlin, Wyo.—(AP)—A former "two-gun" Western sheriff, as warden of the Wyoming penitentiary here, is turning criminals back into the "straight and narrow path" by man-to-man talks on the "folly of their ways."

Long trailing of cattle and sheep rustlers, outlaws and stage robbers in which gun battles were mixed plenty, taught warden Hadsell that "man-to-man" talks with criminals brought out their hidden virtues. He regularly has personal conferences with every one of his prisoners. He says he talks to them, not as warden to convict, but as man to man, and the convicts soon believe in his viewpoint.

"But let a prisoner lie to me and he will be punished; if he tells the truth, I am lenient with him," declared warden Hadsell, who says that nearly seventy-five percent of discharged prisoners have "gone straight."

MEN REFUSE TO WEAR BRIGHT HEAD GEAR

New York.—(AP)—For weeks, smart haberdashers have been displaying in their windows red, green and yellow felt hats for men. But the male New Yorker seems disinclined to violate a biologic distaste for highly colored head gears. The hats stay in the windows and few are observed on the streets.

Praises Resinol for curing ivy poisoning
Itching stopped after first application

Media, Pa., June 26.—"I wonder if you realize how valuable Resinol Salve is as a cure for Ivy Poisoning. We have used it for three members of our household this summer. After the first application the itching sensation passes away and simply does not return." (Signed) Mrs. W. G. McNees, Providence Rd. at Fifth St.

Resinol Ointment is also invaluable for the quick relief of sunburn, insect stings, hives, itching rashes, chafing, etc. A bath with Resinol Soap and tepid water is most refreshing and invigorating at the close of a hot, dusty day.

CRANE, DEAN OF STAGE, LIVES ON MEMORIES

Collects Numerous Mementoes from Sixty Years Stage Experience

Hollywood, Calif., (AP)—In the heart of this capital of the film world, William H. Crane, dean of the American stage, now retired, reclines among the mementoes and remembrances of nearly 60 years before the footlights.

His suite of rooms creates the impression of books and photographs. The photograph of not a single one of the old-time stage stars is missing. There also are autographed photographs of President Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt, and two others of which he is especially proud.

HIS "ALL STAR" CAST

One was taken at a dinner tendered him by New York theatre managers in remembrance of his fiftieth anniversary on the stage. The other includes members of the cast of "The Rivals," which Mr. Crane says was the only stage play produced with a genuine all-star cast within the last 50 years. The cast included Nat C. Goodwin, Francis Wilson, E. M. Holland, Julia Marlowe, Joseph Holland, Robert Tabor and Mr. Crane.

Mr. Crane believes his collection of newspaper clippings and criticisms is the largest accumulated by any actor. It fills 20 scrap books and includes comments on plays dating back to 1852.

RARE VOICE FIRST POPULAR

While the veteran actor loved plays from his early youth, he never dreamed of taking part in them. It was his deep bass voice that won him his first opportunity on the stage, he believes.

After appearing in amateur minstrels, Mr. Crane made his professional bow July 13, 1853, at Mechanics Hall, Utica, N. Y., when he became the apprentice member of the Holman Opera Company, which once was widely known throughout the East.

REGRETS STAGE OF NUDITY

Mr. Crane avoids commenting upon the apparent destination of the stage. He feels that no one is really qualified to speak. He does regret, however, the present trend of so many plays. The current profanity, nudity and vulgarity of the stage he looks upon as nothing short of shocking, as he prides himself upon the fact that he never played a piece that a mother could not take her daughter to see. "The Father and the Sons," which was popular some years ago, with Crane as father, was one of his constructive parts.

Despite his age, Mr. Crane is in good health and is still very active. His interests include The Strollers, a club made up of actors with 30 years experience or more on the speaking stage. He is president of the club.

CONRAD PLANNED TO RETURN TO POLAND

New York (AP)—Joseph Conrad, Polish son of Polish patriots before he was the great English teller of sea tales, intended to return to his native country to end his days, and would have done so within a few months had not death in August 1924, intervened. This is revealed by a letter from Mrs. Conrad, published in the August issue of "Poland."

In view of Conrad's Polish birth and early life in Cracow, many have wondered why he never returned to his old home for more than a short visit. The letter from his English wife makes the authentic statement that this actually was his intention.

China was the first nation to use wall paper, 2,000 years ago. British air experts are now engaged in investigating the possibility of equipping fighting airplanes with gun turrets.

is the real grain fed native steer beef and nothing else. This is the time of the year where shoddy goods in the beef line looks almost like the real goods, to inexperienced buyers. But, Oh! What a difference, in taste, flavor, tenderness and greater shrinkage in roasting. So it is really the cheapest and the shrewd buyer knows he is saving money, in buying the best, although they pay a few cents more. You can not expect cream at skimmed milk prices.

Her Own Way
A STORY OF
A GIRL OF TODAY

A HAT-CHECKER'S PHILOSOPHY
"A hat girl is a good one to try out those tricks on, Jimmie, for she's defenseless. There's only one in a while that a Sir Galahad or whatever his name was, like you, comes to her defense. I've often wondered how in the world Mamie could stand all the slush that's handed out to her and not get her hands frosted as well as a frozen face. She just smiles at 'em, Jimmie, and doesn't hear a word they say. I asked her once if she hadn't stuffed her ears with cotton and she said:

"No dear, but I just draw my hearing inside of me and I don't hear a thing unless it's a sentence that has the word 'hat' in it."

"Yes, Judy, Mamie's a great girl, isn't she? But just now I want to talk about yourself. If you must have come to the city and I don't see just yet why you came at all, what in the world made you take such a position? Surely, your Dad didn't let you come without money enough to tide you over until you could find something and not work in the restaurant?"

"Dad did give me two hundred and fifty dollars and it was stolen from me right in that restaurant the first night I got here. When I went to pay for my dinner I found my bag was gone. The manager said I was trying to beat them out of it."

"And that's just what he would do, the dirty bum," interrupted Jimmie.

"I tell you I was awfully frightened. I didn't know what I was going to do, but after a good deal of bluster, Mrs. Sterns said I could help in the hat-checking station to help pay for the meal I had just eaten."

"I think I'll go back and bust his nose," remarked Jimmie, sotto voce.

"Don't bother about him, dear. I was mighty glad of it, because, you see, I met Mamie. She was the first woman I had spoken to except that awful palaverer thing in the women's dressing room, since I left home. I didn't know I cared so much for my own sex. I thought I liked men best. But you see I was so discouraged I was almost ready to go home, and I knew if I did, I would have to marry Chuck."

"What do you mean 'Chuck'?" asked Jim in a choked voice.

"I mean just what I say. You know Charlie Becker, don't you?"

"Yes, I knew him, but we never chummed together a bit. I was the son of the Irish grocer, Costello, who drove his father's delivery wagon from house to house and he was the son of the banker. He went to Harvard with an allowance, and I worked my way through Cornell, so you see we didn't have much in common. I don't think he ever spoke to me after we went to college and I don't think to this day he knows that I am a college man, if that means anything."

MARY PICKFORD WANTS
APARTMENT IN PARIS

Paris—(P)—"I am looking for a Paris apartment where we can spend our declining years," Mary Pickford told Paris newspapermen.

"I don't necessarily mean old age when I say 'declining years,'" she continued, "for one never knows when the public's taste in movie stars will change and our retirement might be closer than we expect."

Mary's choice of Paris principally is on account of its tree-lined avenues, according to her explanation. She declared that, next to Gifford Pinchot, she is the most ardent conservationist in the United States and tree-planting is one of her hobbies.

APPLETON NEEDS HOME FOR POOR, SAYS HEINEMANN

County Judge Says Present Expenditures Not Enough to Care for Poor

Appleton and Outagamie-co need a public institution to care for destitute people, according to Judge Fred V. Heinemann. While various towns, villages and cities of this county are now contributing approximately $125,000 annually for the relief, care and maintenance of destitute people of all ages, this expenditure is not sufficient to make available a suitable place where such people can find refuge and comfort, he pointed out.

"The late George F. Peabody had this situation in mind when he made a bequest in his will for the establishment of an old ladies home at Appleton," Judge Heinemann said. He provided a fund of $50,000 for this purpose, $25,000 to be used for buildings and $25,000 for an endowment fund to provide an income for its support.

"In this bequest he extended an invitation to other benevolently inclined citizens to join with him in this beneficent. The bequest makes no provision for aged men who find themselves as much in need of a home as old ladies."

"Through the old age pension law we are in position to care for deserving cases to a certain extent, but although we may be in a position to pay them a monthly allowance, we have no public institution or home to accord these people comforts that money won't buy," Judge Heinemann pointed out.

"There are two periods when our unfortunates need aid—in youth and in old age. I wish some of our big men who are wondering where their estates should finally go would bear this in mind. An institution of this nature would be a monument and memorial more enduring and far more beneficial to humanity than many other forms of benevolence."

AUSTRALIAN TRIBES SHINGLE WIFE'S HAIR

London—(P)—Women have their hair shingled among the Australian aborigines in the region of Gregory sea and it is a husband's prerogative to cut his wife's hair with sharpened stones.

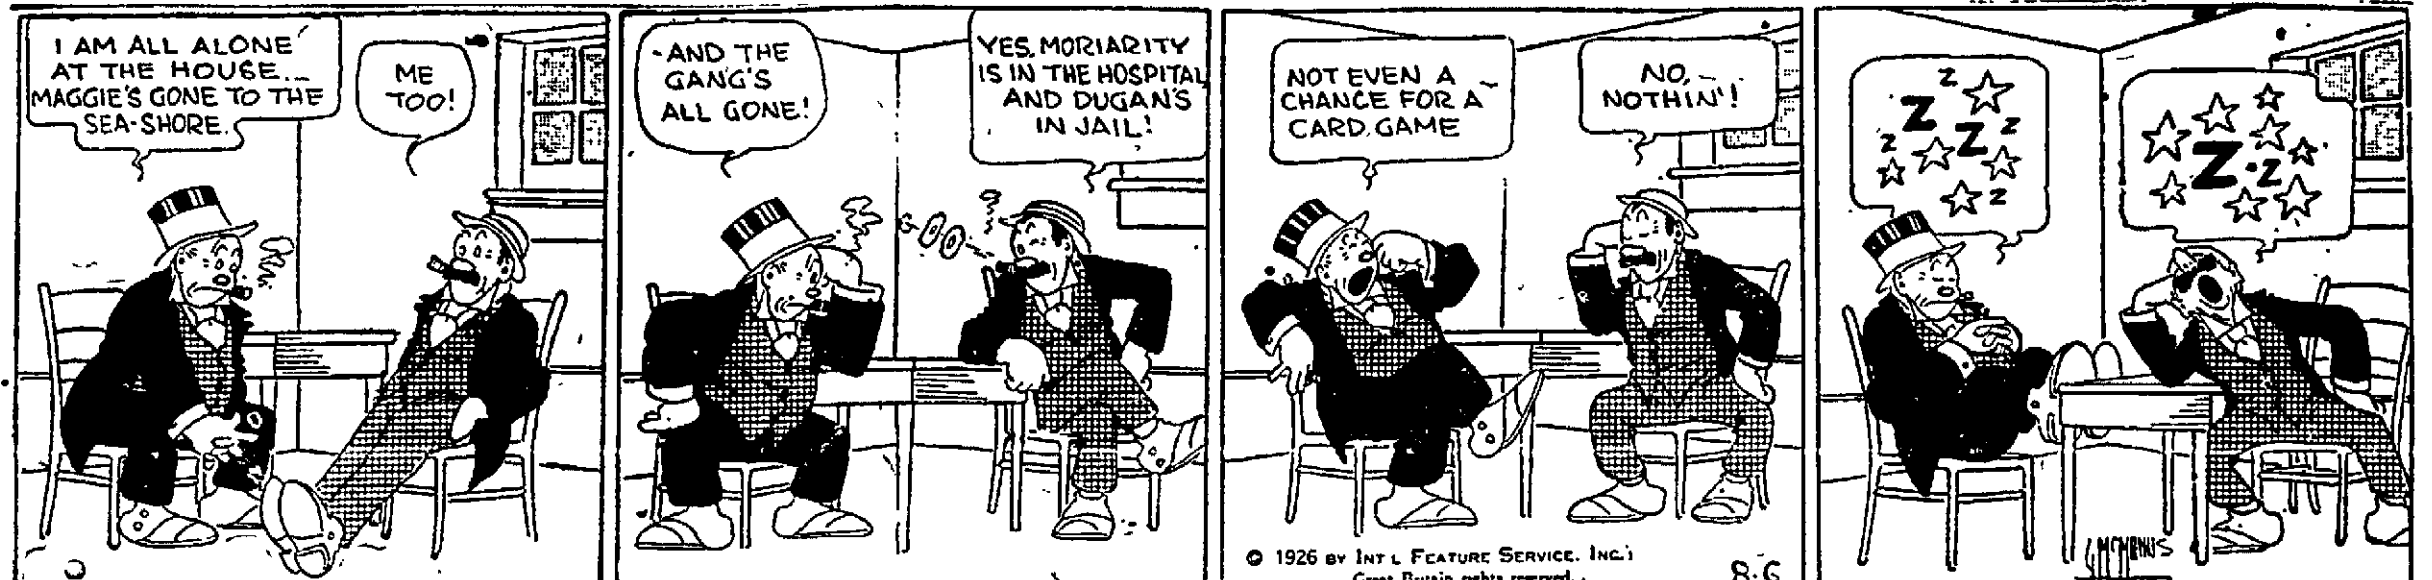

Such is the story of hairdressing in Australia which Michael Terry, explorer, has brought back to London after a trip through little-known parts of northern Australia.

Female hair is much prized by the aborigines, as it is used in weaving ornaments.

BABE'S 34TH HOMER AIDS YANKS BEAT INDIANS

Hugginsmen Belt Smith For 13 Safe Blows To Even Important Series

Pirates Gain Full Game on Reds by Win from Braves as Giants Beat Cincy

Babe Ruth, chasing the shadow of 1921, is hitting more home runs than in any season since that time, and his return to prowess appears to be carrying the New York Yankees to the pinnacle they attained in the same year.

Five years ago Ruth had 39 circuit blows to his credit on August 5, Friday he had 34 having sent forth his latest one in Thursday's game against Cleveland in an 8 to 2 victory for the Yankees. The batter inserted his long clout in the opening frame of Sherry Smith and it gave Sam Jones tolling for the Yankees, great confidence. Thirteen hits, were belted by the American League leaders, three each by Earl Combs and Joe Judge. The crucial series now is tied at one game each.

Four runs in the fifth inning gave the St. Louis Browns a lead that Philadelphia could not overcome and the Mackmen succumbed 7 to 5. Williams and McManus of St. Louis hit homers.

Rip Collins right arm downed the Washington Senators 6 to 4, after Johns of the Tigers had been shelved from the mound in the first two innings. Walter Johnson went all the way for Washington and in the second his homer accounted for two scores. A long single was made from the offerings of Collins.

Chicago piled up 11 safeties from the services of Walter and Ruffing of the Red Sox and won, 7 to 2. Johnny Mostil and Willie Kamm lead the assault.

Pittsburg gained a full game in the National League by setting back the Boston Braves, 4 to 3, while the Pirates subdued Cincinnati, 7 to 4. The Giants were out 5 to 6, but gathered three runs in the fifth and another in the following inning. Rawlings, Carey and Guyler hit safely in the big frame and Goldsmith assisted them with a bad throw.

Cincinnati bowed to heavier hitting. Pete Donohue being driven from the box in the sixth and Jackie May proving ineffective. Fred Lindstrom and Al Tyson, second and third men in the New York batting order, had perfect days at the plate with four hits apiece.

Philadelphia dropped another contest to the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 1. Riggs Stephenson leading the attack while Leo Hartnett poled his second home run in two days.

Brooklyn won before the Cardinals for the third straight time, 11 to 9, the game requiring ten innings. St. Louis scored four runs in the final frame and the Dodgers two. Jess Petty, who has lost many games this year because of a dearth of hitting, had plenty of it Thursday but could not hold such slugging as Southworth, Hornsby, Bell and O'Farrell, who manufactured three hits each. Southworth of the Cardinals and Wheat of the Dodgers hit home runs.

TUSTIN BALL SQUAD WANTS VALLEY GAMES

Amateur baseball teams of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha which desire games will be able to complete their schedules by getting in touch with F. L. Cook, manager of the Tustin Slingers of Tustin and his team desires games in this vicinity.

CLARA BARRETT STILL RESTS FROM LONG SWIM

Dover, England—Clarabelle Barrett of New Rochelle, N. Y., who came within two miles of swimming the English Channel from Dover to Calais, Sept. 19 at Appleton and Sept. 26 at Chicago. Her nurse and friend, Miss Grace Lester of Baltimore insists that absolute quiet and rest are imperative for a speedy comeback after the exhaustion Miss Barrett experienced in her swim of 21 hours and 25 minutes.

Miss Barrett probably will not be able for several days whether she will again try to conquer the channel this year.

New York—(AP)—Tommy Ryan, McKeesport, Pa., and Johnny Green, New York, fought a draw (10). Vic Burrone, New York, defeated Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, (10).

Chicago—Joe Click, Brooklyn, and Eddie Anderson, Chicago, fought a draw (10).

BREWERS WHIP BLUES AS KERNELS ALSO WIN

By way of change from his usual high geared performances, Charley Robertson proceeded in reverse Thursday afternoon and still managed to finish in front of the Blues by a 7 to 5 score. Charles the Conqueror was very lucky to even finish the game, let alone win it, with what he served, and but for a double kill in the fourth, Robby would probably not have reached his destination right side up.

FANS REMINDED OF 1919 CHAMPS BY PRESENT REDS

Great Work of Hendricksmen in Battling Bucs for Top Rouses Flag Hopes

Cincinnati's sensational play in the National League chase this season recalls the great team the late Pat Moran had in Redland in 1919—the year the Reds capped the flag and then the Chicago White Sox—the scandalous play-off, as some have since termed it. That was the year such recognized stars as Heinie Groh, "Greasy" Neale, "Doc" Eller, Ivy Wingo, good old Bill Hardin and others roamed the fields for Cincinnati. Most of the members of that famous aggregation have drifted out of the main show, but their illustrious deeds on the field of battle are still fresh in the minds of Cincinnati fans.

This year's team has been one of the biggest surprises in the Heydler organization. It wasn't given much of a rating by the experts during spring training—at least, it wasn't considered in the same breath with the Giants, the Pirates and the Cards.

But Jack Hendricks has had his boys going at a pace-setting clip almost since the start of the campaign and if any club is to prevent the Pittsburgh outfit from making it two straight pennant successes, the Reds look like the team to turn the trick. The good work of Rube Bressler, Ed Roush, Wally Pipp, Eppa Rixey, Pete Donohue and others has done much to keep the Cincy boys in the gallop.

Redland roosters have the old bunting bee buzzing again—just as they did in those hilarious days seven years ago.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

"The Chief" Williams boosted day will be staged in Green Bay on Saturday, Aug. 14. An all star team from the Valley loop will cross bats with the Bays at Bellevue park. Plans for event were mapped out at a meeting of the league club owners held in Appleton at the Conway hotel, Wednesday. Appleton will furnish four players for the game, including a battery.

The opening game of the Badger state pro football championship series will be played in Racine on Sunday, Oct. 10 with Milwaukee facing the Horlickville crew. A week later Racine is expected to exhibit its gridiron wares in Green Bay against the Packers, who have held the state title since 1918.

There should be plenty of action in the Fond du Lac encounter at Fond du Lac on Sunday. Both of these clubs are going at top speed these days. Sternagle who has won his last two starts for the Batzmen, will draw the pitching assignment with Eps Leu as his opponent in the bending battle.

When Coach Rockne calls his football candidates together for practice at Notre Dame, there will be two gridders from the Valley very much present. Red Heindren, Green Bay, is a co-captain of the South Benders, and Red Smith of the Combined Locks is a fixture at one of the guards.

Coach Baker of Fond du Lac high is beginning to take stock of his football material. The Cardinal schoolers are expected to have another strong team. Heavy material won't be overabundant but there will speed galore in the machine. A number of vets are slated to down the muleskins once more.

An even eleven Packers have signed their football contracts for the 1926 season and it looks like the "makings" of the best pro club that ever represented the Bay on the gridiron. A month from now the Packers will be at practice in preparation for the opening game of the season, Sept. 12.

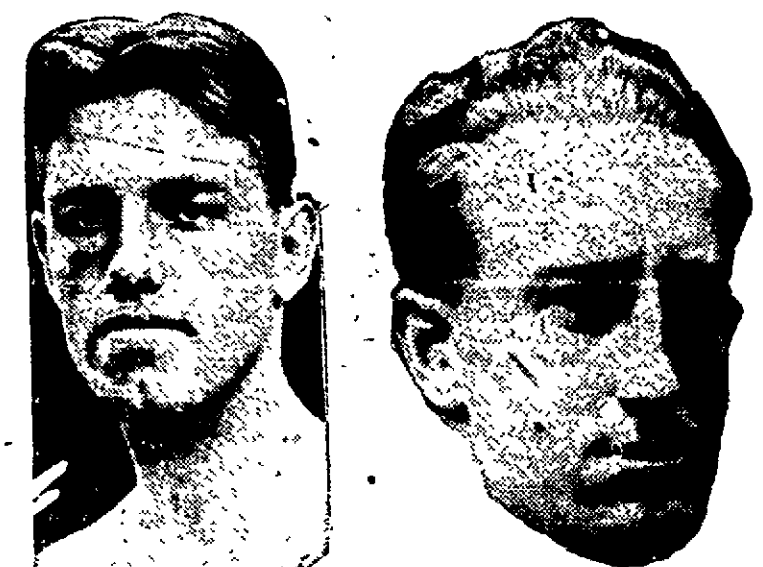

Cub Buck is slated to hit the trail for Florida late in September where he will coach the Miami university. Buck's team won't have any soft pickings as games have been arranged with the best eleven in Dixie land. A contest with a California college is the "big" date on the outline.

MITCHELL FEATURES FIGHT CARD

PINKY MITCHELL, LEFT, AND A. J. SCHINNER.

More than usual interest is being manifested in the Pinky Mitchell-Tommy White match, which will be decided at Milwaukee baseball park the night of Thursday, Aug. 12, and it is a pretty safe bet that the big place will be packed when they meet.

It will be a double bill as Harry Kahn, champion lightweight of Wisconsin, will clash in another ten round bout with Harry "Kid" Brown of Philadelphia.

In addition to the above the Chinese sensation, Harry Su Quong Bill, will have a six round set-to with Syd Kelly of Milwaukee, and another bout will be on tap for the opening event.

It will be the first anniversary of the open air boxing in the state and regarding the affair A. J. Schinner, chairman of the State Athletic Commission and national champion hand-to-hand champion for 1925 and 1926, says: "It was the idea of Frank Fawcett, attorney for the Badger State Athletic club, to hold a boxing show on the anniversary of the passage of the outdoor boxing bill. This idea appears to have met with the approval of boxing fans and I am certain that it will gain the hearty support of the athletic public.

Boxing has taken rank with our finest professional sports and is gaining in popularity yearly.

The card arranged by Tom Andrews, matchmaker of the club, which includes Pinky Mitchell, and Tommy White, and Harry Kahn and Harry Kid Brown, is as good as has been offered here in recent years.

Mitchell is coming back after a strenuous campaign in the best boxing centers in the country. Due to the anniversary touch to the programme many old time boxing fans and officials plan to be in attendance and an effort will be made to have Gov. John J. Blaine appear at the ringside."

Gertrude Ederle Starts 2nd Channel Swim Friday

Cape Grizney, France—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle, the American swimmer, started at 7:09 o'clock Friday morning in an attempt to swim the English channel.

The weather condition, when she took her plunge were fine. At noon, almost five hours after the start, Miss Ederle was nine miles out. Her position was good and the weather was unchanged, with a southwest wind.

At one in the afternoon Miss Ederle had covered more than twelve miles and was still swimming strongly. Weather and sea conditions were unchanged.

It was a grim and determined swimmer that entered the water Friday morning in sharp contrast to last year when she dove off as if on a holiday. With set face she walked into the channel from the sandy beach instead of diving from the rocks of the cape as before. She barely acknowledged the cheers of the few onlookers but walked briskly until the water reached her waist and then launched off with a steady crawl of 28 strokes to the minute. She was going very strong, and her trainer, T. W. Burgess, was already warning her: "Take your time, Miss Ederle!"

Friday's attempt at swimming the English Channel was not Gertrude Ederle's first introduction to this rough waterway lying between the coasts of France and England.

The one time amateur champion, who is now a professional, tried last summer to negotiate the same 18 miles of water which Neptune until now has barred to women swimmers. After long training Miss Ederle started from Cape Griz Nez, the same point from which she set out Friday and was within six and half miles from the chalk cliffs of Dover when she became exhausted and collapsed in the arms of the Egyptian swimmer Helmy, who had plunged into the water to rescue her. Miss Ederle was in the water 8 1/2 hours and 46 minutes and the first part of her performance was regarded as among the best ever seen in the channel.

Depere Meets Combined Locks Sunday in Big Battle of Intercounty Loop

STANDINGS	W. L. Pct.
Freedom	6 3 .667
Wrightstown	6 4 .600
Depere	5 4 .556
Combined Locks	4 5 .444
Little Chute	3 5 .375
Onida	3 6 .333

SUNDAY GAMES

Depere at Combined Locks. Onida at Wrightstown. Little Chute at Freedom.

Third place will be at stake in the intercounty loop with a chance of the winning team sailing clear to second when Depere invades Combined Locks for an important battle Sunday.

Depere is in third, just a game above the Locksmen who have won their last four straight. A locks win will tie the two crews for the position while a Depere win will keep that crew in third and will shove it clear to second, a half-game above Wrightstown, should that squad lose to Onida. The Wrightstown men now are a half-game above Depere. The Locksmen are favorites at home.

Wrightstown meets the tallend Onida crew, once a power in the loop, and are liable to lose as the Indians still play good ball and will work hard to come out of the cellar. They can do this by a win while Little Chute is losing to Freedom, the "cudde". A Wrightstown loss means a possible third place for that crew, while a win, Freedom loses, means the top notch. Wrightstown is favored to win.

In the third loop struggle, Little Chute invades Freedom in an attempt to pull the home boys from the top which they have held so long. Last week the Locks crew took a game from Freedom and the Chuters hope to repeat. A Chute win will depose Freedom if Wrightstown also wins and will keep the winners from the cellar should Onida win. It also will put Little Chute in a tie for fourth place in the loop with Combined Locks if that crew loses to Depere.

The largest orange-outang ever measured was 4 feet 6 inches in height, 42 inches around the chest and stretched to 8 feet from finger tips to finger tips.

Yanks "Kayo" Dope Bucket By Showing In Young Loop

BY BILLY EVANS

If the Yankees win the American League pennant, and they certainly appear to be on the way, it will be a "kayo" for expert opinion.

In the spring the New York Americans were given consideration in the pre-season pennant talk.

The Yankees have just weathered a tough slump. They came out out by putting over a big winning streak. Ability to win games in large clusters has been one of the outstanding reasons for the team's success.

When Bob Meusel was put out of it for two months with a broken foot, Babe Ruth handicapped by a "charley-horse" and Pitcher Hoyt and Catchers Collins and Bengough suffering with bad arms, it looked as if the toboggan might be greased for the Yankees.

However, the club had enough reserve strength to tide it over the rough days and proceeded to prove its courage by a great comeback.

One reason why expert opinion appears to be in for a jolt because of the fine showing of the Yankees, is the fact that it really is a much better ball club than any one rated it.

And best of all, it has a punch at the bat that carries plenty of woe for the opposition at all times.

NED ALLIS MEETS PETERSON IN GO FOR GOLF CROWN

Seven Time State Titlist Whips Sanborn in Semis; Peterson Beats Madushaw

Milwaukee—(AP)—A seven time champion and a veteran golfer, tested by many tournaments teed off at the Ozaukee country club Friday morning in the final round of the state amateur golf association tournament in quest of the 1926 championship.

Ned Allis who has held the title seven times and Irving Peterson of Oshkosh, came through their Thursday matches in fine fashion, and earned undisputed right to the finals position by virtue of their keen play.

Allis accounted for two Madison men during Thursday's matches. In the morning, he tamed William Gernon of the Maple Bluff club, 3 to 2, and in the afternoon after closing two down at the turn to Phil Sanborn, Gernon's clubmate, he fought an uphill battle to win 3 to 2.

Peterson did not have a light assignment Thursday, but came through without much trouble. In the morning round he defeated Vance Gar of Kenosha and in the afternoon took the long hitting George Madushaw of Delaford to defeat, going out in the semi-finals. Peterson like his opponent was all over the course, but he went to the turn all square and then steamed and turned in a string of fours broken by only one three on the fourteen's.

Madushaw could not match such golf and went out of the running 2 and 1. Allis nearly lost an opportunity to enter the finals against Sanborn when he ran wild in the first nine of the semi-finals and accumulated a 7 and a 6, which seldom find a place on his card. Like Peterson he steadied on the homeward journey and was close to par.

Friday's play for championship is a thirty-six hole affair eighteen in the morning and eighteen in the afternoon.

MADISON RING IS NEAR COLLAPSE, SAYS ZIMMERMAN

Candidate for Governor States Ekern Is Shifting from His Policy

Lancaster, (P)—Herman L. Ekern is endeavoring to shift from his neck the millstone hung there by destructive conservation policies of the present state administration he has sworn to continue, asserted Fred R. Zimmerman, his opponent for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, here Thursday night.

The gubernatorial aspirant asserted that the spectacle of Mr. Ekern trying to forsake the conservation policies of the administration is presented in his campaign.

Disintegration of "Madison ring" was predicted by Mr. Zimmerman who cited the fact that the ring candidate for state treasurer (Solomon Levitan) is making speeches all over the state claiming "confidentially" that he no longer belongs to the Blaine family of politicians.

"Can we expect shortly the same kind of speeches from Mr. Ekern?" Mr. Zimmerman queried.

"The handwriting is on the wall and since the Madison mouthpiece of the progressive party in Wisconsin has disowned the titular head of the Madison ring—Governor Blaine and since Mr. Ekern goes about the state endeavoring to shift from his neck the millstone hung there by the destructive conservation policies of the state administration, perhaps we can no longer count on the Madison ring but must define it as a triangle."

Reiterating there is no Zimmerman state as charged by his opponents, Mr. Zimmerman said "I am for the other candidates who have been accused of being members of the Zimmerman state because they are truer progressives than any men whose candidacy is now settling on the political horizon. They are for me and I am for them because of our earnest desire to annihilate the Madison ring which is pulling LaFollette's progressive principles into the mire of political opportunity."

EXPECT TO START BAR CHEAT PROBE

Investigation of Charges Made Against "Future Lawyers" Begins With Meeting

Madison—(P)—Investigation of charges of cheating by candidates for admittance to the state bar while they took examinations to the state bar while they took examinations here last month, was expected to begin in the supreme court chambers here Friday afternoon.

The first step will be a conference between District Attorney Philip LaFollette, the board of law examiners who petitioned the supreme court for the probe, and Edward J. Reynolds, Madison attorney who will preside over the hearings. Reynolds was appointed by the supreme court Wednesday.

District Attorney Philip LaFollette, who was engaged in campaign work with Attorney General Ekern in the northern part of the state, abandoned his tour and made a hurried return to the city Thursday night.

The investigation was ordered by the Wisconsin supreme court following charges by a local newspaper that a "wholesale and elaborate cheating" was practiced by the candidates.

Markets

PRICES SOAR ON WALL STREET

Buying Orders Distributed Over Wide Variety of Stocks

New York—(P)—Stock prices resumed their upward movement at the opening of Friday's market with buying orders widely distributed among the sugar, copper, rail, steel, motor, equipment, public utility and food shares. Initial gains of a point or more were recorded by Remington Typewriter, Atchison, American Smelting and Union Bag and paper. Case Threshing Machine opened 2 points higher at 17 1/2 a new high point higher at 17 1/2 a new high record and 1.03 points above the years low.

With the technical position of the market apparently strengthened by the reaction of the last few days, operators for the rise experienced less difficulty in bidding up their favorites. The announcement that Railroad traffic in the first six months was the largest of any sold above 3 cents for the history brought fresh buying into the railroad shares which had attracted little speculative interest for a week or more. Atchison and Atlantic coast line led the early advance in that group. Although the market has shown a disposition to move independently of General Motors and United States Steel common, the leaders in the recent sensational advance, both those stocks continued to receive strong buying support. Amusement shares such as Famous Players and Fox Film A. were bid up in expectation of a profitable winter season as a result of widespread business prosperity this year. The progress being made in the rehabilitation of French finances was reflected in an overnight jump of about 20 points in French francs which sold above 3 cents for the first time in months.

Purchases of 100 and 200 share lots made up the bulk of the activity in the forenoon with the demand embracing an unusual variety of shares. The volume and character of the buying was pointed out by market observers as indicating a large outside interest. The recent striking advances in some of the industrial shares exciting public imagination again. Atchison sold at 14 1/2, and Case Threshing Machine at 17 1/2 the highest figures in their history and over a score of other stocks also ruled from 3 to 8 points higher. Withdrawal for business purposes caused an advance in the renewal rate for call loans to 4 1/2 per cent.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.
